Dedication

One of the purposes of the '59-60 Agricola is to emphasize the great progress which Tech is making. In accordance with that goal, it is very fitting that this yearbook be dedicated to Gene Witherspoon.

Mr. Witherspoon, who is known as "Chief" to all Techsters, is the chairman of the Fine Arts Department and director of the band, which is generally considered to be tops in this state.

However, the greatest tribute to him is not that he just "happened" to have a good band but that year after year, since his coming to Tech in 1950, the band and entire Fine Arts Department have shown marked and continued progress. Both have increased tremendously in quality as well as in size.

The eighty-five piece Tech marching band, Witherspoon's pride and joy, lines up at halftime for the Homecoming show.

"Chief" and a Fine Arts student seem to have run across something amusing.

"Chief" and band attempt to play march and at the same time watch the game.

ADMINISTRATION

Board of Trustees Directs College

CURTIS GOLDTRAP
Chairman

A banker, a doctor, a lawyer, a businessman, and an insurance agent comprise Tech's Board of Trustees. These five men are responsible for formulating the policies — within the laws of the state — which govern the operation of Arkansas Tech.

This dedicated group of men, appointed to a five-year term by the governor and confirmed by the state senate, serves without pay. The terms are staggered so that the term of only one member expires each year.

Meeting once each month, unless otherwise called together by the president, the Board is responsible for decisions which vitally effect the life of the collective and individual Tech student.

The present board will long be identified with one of Tech's most progressive building programs. Totaling over a million dollars, the program includes: Dulaney Hall, a new air conditioned boys' dorm; the $340,000 W. O. Young Student Center, regarded as the foremost building of its type in the state; extensive remodeling of the Tech Dining Hall; and a new girls' dorm now under construction, completion tentatively set for the Fall of 1960.

Tech has advanced greatly under their guidance.

J. W. HULL
President

President Hull

President J. W. Hull is well known for his friendliness. He is perhaps the friendliest person on the Tech campus. He speaks to everyone and never seems too busy to talk with a Tech student. In fact Mr. Hull has often said that the only time he does not like to talk to students is when they are in trouble.

Since the 1932 appointment of Mr. Hull to the presidency of Arkansas Tech, the school has come a long way — from the small Second District Agricultural High School, which was primarily vocational, to a four year institution with a well rounded curriculum.

Tech has grown in other ways since the arrival of Mr. Hull. The number of students and faculty members has increased several-fold and the number of buildings on the campus has almost doubled. A sizeable amount of this growth can be traced directly to Mr. Hull's excellent administrative abilities.

His achievements, however, are not entirely in the past, for Tech is still growing. Every year sees new buildings, more teachers, more students, and many modern improvements at Tech. This school, with its potential for advancement in the near future, is very fortunate in having a man of President Hull's qualities as a leader.

Administration Guides Tech Activities

F. W. BYNUM
Dean of Men

Providing the leadership and work necessary for the day-to-day activities of Arkansas Tech constitutes the main job of the Administration. They handle the finance, publicity, maintenance, paperwork, food, and medical care — all integral parts of the college. In addition to this, the Administration sets up the rules pertaining to the students' conduct.

The officers of the Administration also bear the responsibility of carrying out the policy decided upon by the Board of Trustees and President Hull.

Except in the matter of discipline, the officers of the Administration depend upon the administrative assistants in their dealings with the student body.

There are many committees, however, which consist of both students and administrative officers.

Generally speaking, there is a great deal of cooperation and good will between the Administration and the student body. As a result of this good will and cooperation, many of the responsibilities of disciplinary action have, in the past few years, been turned over to the Student Court.

The Administration has been expanded this year by the addition of a Dean of Men. Thus they keep pace with the rapid expansion of Arkansas Tech.

Tech Library Familiar To All Students

MRS. L. O. LOGAN
Assistant Librarian

BILL VAUGHN
Assistant Librarian

Tomlinson Library is one of the most beautiful buildings on the Tech campus. It is also one of the most familiar, because it is used by everyone at least once.

Most students first come in contact with the library at the beginning of their first semester when they classify and sign up for classes. For some students this is their first and last entrance, but for many more it is only a prelude to numerous hours of study and research.

The library furnishes an escape from noisy dormitories and provides a place to prepare for daily assignments, to study for exams, to do research on paper, or to just browse around.

The student conference room is available for group meetings or for several students who wish to study together without disturbing others.

The building was named for E. S. Tomlinson, long-time biology instructor at Tech. It contains a large reading room, conference and work rooms, and 35,000 volumes as well as thousands of government books, pamphlets, periodicals, and maps, which the library receives as a government depository.

Three full-time staff members and all fifteen student employees are always ready and willing to assist students in their work in the library.

Dining Hall Makes Steady Progress

Furnishing food for its students comprises an important and necessary job for any college. At Tech this is especially true.

Because of the fact that the majority of students are from towns other than Russellville and therefore live on campus, the responsibility of feeding a great portion of the student body falls to the school cafeteria and its head, Paul Fiser.

In the past few years, the cafeteria has been extensively remodeled in order to accommodate a greater number of people. During this same period of time, much new equipment has been added. All of these improvements combine to make the Tech dining hall a very modern one.

The dining hall employs sixty-three students who, by working during two meals a day, earn a meal ticket. This is very beneficial to the many students who are paying, partially or completely, their way through school.

"The Green Room", used solely for banquets, provides a place for the campus organizations to stage their big events at a reasonable cost. Many local organizations which are not connected with the college also make use of this facility.

Agri and Home Ec Division Expand

MELVERN WATSON, M.S.
Chairman, Division of Agri and Home Ec

The departments of agriculture and home economics constitute the Division of Agriculture and Home Economics at Arkansas Tech.

Since Arkansas is predominantly a farming state and since the majority of the State's population gainfully employed devotes its time and energies to farming, it is not surprising that the agri department occupies an important position in the overall curriculum at Tech. The department endeavors to train young men to fill these many jobs connected with agriculture.

Tech has only two years of college work in this field. Because many students transfer to the University of Arkansas for their senior work in agriculture, Tech's freshman and sophomore courses are arranged to correspond with those of the University.

Since 1957 the home economics department has offered a four year program. Its purpose is to give the student a background in many types of jobs and to provide education for woman's role in the home through the combination of home economics education and a broad liberal education.

The home ec department also places a great amount of emphasis on the practical utilization of the principles learned in the course.

B. A. Enlarges Its Teaching Staff

HERMAN LONG, M.S.
Acting Chairman, Division of Business Administration

Students who major in Business Administration make up the membership of Tech's largest division. In the division they may choose one of four courses.

The course in general business places emphasis on many phases of activity in the world of business. Techniques of ownership, management, marketing and retail and selling activities are all studied.

Accounting majors take courses designed to provide technical and professional training in general accounting and to furnish the educational requirements for the CPA examination.

A two year program leading to a certificate of graduation is planned for students who wish to prepare themselves for secretarial, stenographic, and clerical positions. Some students who elect to take the secretarial training course select other electives and work for a bachelor's degree in general business.

The business education program, designed for those who desire to teach business subjects in high school, leads to the bachelor of science degree. Students majoring in business education receive the same training in the practical skill subjects as those in secretarial training. Consequently they are also qualified for secretarial and clerical work.

Education Division Produces Teachers

OREN RANKIN, Ed.D.
Chairman, Division of Education

Preparing teachers is the purpose of the Division of Education, which is the second largest in enrollment at Tech.

This is also one of the most important divisions. With the current interest in raising standards of education in this country, the educator is the one the nation will be looking to and putting pressure on. It is the educator who will partially determine the calibre of tomorrow's leaders.

The departments of Elementary Education, Secondary Education, and Physical Education constitute the division. It meets the needs of students wishing to become teachers in almost any subject whether they major in education or another field. These departments pursue different lines of study so to prepare students for their selected branches of teaching. However, many subjects are required for the department as a whole.

In 1956, the division organized a system of practice teaching whereby all senior education students spend a half day teaching in a nearby school each day of the week. This enables them to obtain practical knowledge of teaching and to apply the fundamentals they learn from their courses. Each student must practice teach for a period of at least nine weeks and possibly more.

Engineering and Math Now Combined

C. E. PADGETT, JR., M.A.
Chairman, Division of Mathematics

The mathematics and engineering departments were placed in a single division this year for the first time. In previous years engineering was a separate division and the math department was a part of the Division of Science and Math.

The engineering department offers the first two years of fully accredited work leading to the Bachelor of Science degree in agricultural, chemical, civil, electrical, industrial, and mechanical engineering.

Due to the great need of draftsmen and instrument men by the highway departments and various other government agencies, many civil engineering students are accepting jobs after two years of training. The Division of Engineering and Math offers a program which concentrates on drawing and surveying to better accommodate these students.

The department of mathematics sponsors a program of four years which leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science.

The Division as a whole seeks to implant into its students not only the skills necessary for their future occupations but also useful mental traits and study habits which will help them all through their lives. The success of these endeavours is shown by the outstanding records of former Tech mathematics and engineering students.

Fine Arts Is Tech's Cultural Center

GENE WITHERSPOON, M.A.
Chairman, Division of Fine Arts

The Division of Fine Arts includes two departments, music and art, both of which offer a four year course of study. The division fosters many cultural activities on the college campus, and, in general, furnishes a wide program of appreciation in the fields of art and music.

The music department is recognized as one of Arkansas Tech's most outstanding departments. It also is acknowledged to have one of the most influential music education programs in the state.

The staff members serve as clinicians, guest directors, and consultants to the official music organizations of the state and to many of the public school programs.

During the current year Tech was admitted to associate membership in the National Association of Schools of Music. NASM holds the official position as the accreditation body for college level music training.

The art department offers a bachelor of arts degree in art and a bachelor of science degree in design. Those who strive for the first degree are mainly the students who plan to become art teachers. The design course is primarily for the ones who want to become professionals.

As a part of the cultural activities of the Fine Arts Division, the art department sponsors exhibits at various times during the year.

Lang.-Lit. Division Is Fast Growing

LILLIAN MASSIE, Ph.D.
Chairman, Division of Language and Literature

The Division of Language and Literature, small in actual enrollment, is large in its sphere of influence. The administration at Tech has long recognized this division as an essential part of a liberal education program and as a necessity for the production of that finished product which is known as "the educated person".

Four departments — English, French, journalism and speech — make up the Language-Literature Division.

The English department exhibits various courses in American and English literature in addition to the basic freshman subjects.

The fastest growing department is French. In 1948 only one course in French was offered. Now there are eight. These courses are designed to give students a knowledge of the French people, their language and their literature.

The journalism department is designed for students with a professional interest in the field. School publications are usually staffed and edited by Lang.-Lit. majors.

The speech department is well known to the students for its production of several excellent plays during the year through the Tech Theater Guild.

ROTC Provides Military Training

COL. ROY M. MUELLER
PMS&T

The Federal Government maintains a division of the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps for the purpose of producing future officers possessing the qualities necessary for continued progress in the Reserve Officers' Corps and the Regular Army.

The program is designed to provide the student with an appreciation of the national military organization of the United States, and to develop within the student those traits of leadership so necessary for success in any field of endeavor.

The ROTC Unit at Tech was established in 1952. It is the General Military Science type, and thereby affords the student the opportunity to be commissioned in any branch of the Army.

All freshmen and sophomore men who are eligible for the draft are required to take Military Science. To receive a commission in the Army, it is necessary to take the advanced course, consisting of a four-year course in Military Science plus a summer military camp between the third and fourth years. Students are admitted into the advanced course only after passing a written test, a physical board, and an advanced selection board.

Organization-wise the ROTC department sponsors the drill team, the rifle team, and the Military Honor Society.

Dept. of Science Becomes Division

TRUMAN McEVER
Chairman, Division of Science

Due to a rapid growing science department, Tech was forced this year to separate its old Division of Science and Mathematics leaving behind a more specialized Division of Science and a newly created Division of Engineering and Mathematics.

A department of science was established in the Second District Agricultural School in 1913. Fourteen years later it became a department in the Division of Arts and Sciences. The Division of Science and Mathematics, which lasted until this year, was organized in 1948, the year that Tech became a senior college.

Students are now able to obtain a bachelor of science degree with a divisional major in either biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics, or physics. Students seeking to meet the pre-professional requirements for admission to schools for medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, or veterinary science also normally classify in the Division of Science.

In order to handle the large number of students in its own division and the many students who enroll in science courses as electives, the faculty of the Science Division is necessarily one of the largest in the college.

Social Studies is general educator

P. K. MERRILL, Ph.D.
Chairman, Division of Social Studies

Under the name of social studies come the departments of history, political science, psychology, economics, sociology, geography, and philosophy. A student wishing to study any of the social sciences, public welfare, or pre-law enrolls in the social studies division.

This division tries to provide the student with opportunities for understanding and appreciating the many social, economic, and political systems of today. It also provides an acquaintance with the geographic features of the world and their relationship to human activities.

The history and philosophy departments carry most of the weight of the general education at Tech in the freshman social studies and junior humanities.

Special attention is given to the pre-law students. Though law schools do not have specific entrance requirements, a well planned course of study is of prime importance. The law school which the student plans to enter comes into consideration when selecting his subjects. However, a broad cultural background is necessary to all those who aspire to the profession of law. In conjunction with this program, the Division of Social Studies sponsors the Pre-Law Club.

Vocational Education Teaches Skills

Many crafts are taught at the auto workshop.

Recognizing the needs of large groups of young men for training in skilled trades, Arkansas Tech offers vocational training in auto mechanics.

These courses are designed to enable the student to progress individually to gain the necessary proficiency as quickly as possible so that he may take his place in productive industry.

Tech has complete and modern workshops for training students in auto mechanics. Through donations and purchases, the school has been able to expand greatly its training equipment. Machinery in the various shops is now valued at more than 200,000 dollars.

Students who are interested in becoming skilled workers, and who are not interested in college credit, are admitted upon completion of minimum school requirements. Admission to a specific class is conditioned by the purpose for which the student enrolls. The number allowed to enroll in each course, however, is limited to the number for which adequate training facilities are available.

Students who meet regular college entrance requirements may enroll for certain college courses in lieu of part of the related training.

No college credits are given to the students for taking any of the various vocational courses.

DORMITORIES

Caraway Hall is the largest dormitory for women on campus.

Caraway Well-known For Hospitality

MRS. W. O. YOUNG
Housemother, Caraway

Caraway Hall is a three-story building with rooms for one-hundred women. One of Tech's nicer looking dormitories, it fits in very well with the overall campus scene.

One of the outstanding features of Caraway is the large downstairs lounge, replete with TV set. Watching television there constitutes a way to while away time in the evening favored by many Tech men. The lounge also provides a place for many social events, the highlight being the Christmas dance.

Caraway girls are among the most active students at Tech and are represented in most of the major organizations.

Bryan Hall Noted For Social Activity

Bryan Hall, named after long time faculty member Miss Lela Jane Bryan, is a modern two-story dormitory for women. It houses ninety-six students.

Two-room suites with bath and a lounge on each floor are among the outstanding physical features of Bryan. Also there are, for the convenience of the residents, two laundry rooms.

Bryan is noted for its dances, its pajama parties for the girls, and its floats (Bryan girls designed and built the prizewinning floats in the last two Homecoming parades).

Dormitory officers are: Maureen Woodiel, president; Sara Smith, vice-president; Cecilia Broderick, secretary; Suzanne Faulkner, treasurer.

MRS. GAIL DANIEL
Housemother, Bryan

Bryan Hall was one of the first of the modern-style buildings on the Tech campus.

Apartment Dormitory Most Spacious

Apartment Dorm originally quartered married students and was only recently converted to a women's housing unit.

DOROTHY DUKES
Student Supervisor

One of Tech's original buildings and formerly a married couples apartment, Apartment Dorm was rebuilt last year to accommodate women students.

Small in comparison to the other women's quarters, this dormitory houses only twenty girls. In addition it is the only dorm on campus which has a student supervisor instead of a housemother.

It is divided into five suites, each of which is designed to accommodate four students. As far as individual room space goes, boarders in Apartment Dorm are probably ahead of any others on the campus.

Dormitory officers are: Glenda Revis, president; Kay McGhee, vice-president; Elizabeth Foster, secretary-treasurer; Sherlyn Helmick, A.W.S. representative.

Designed to house one-hundred women students, two to a room, Tech's newest and most modern dormitory is scheduled for completion in early June, in time for use during the first term of summer school.

In official dedication ceremonies to be held next fall, the dormitory will be named after Dr. Lillian Massie, chairman of the Language and Literature Division at Tech.

The two-story brick structure will be completely air conditioned, have an apartment for a house-mother, and a utility room for the girls to use. The brick structure is designed to harmonize with other buildings on the Tech campus and is located north of Bryan Hall.

On completion of this dormitory, Tech will be able to provide living quarters for more than three-hundred girl students on campus, an indication of the increasing girl ratio in the Tech student body.

DR. LILLIAN MASSIE

New Dorm Named For Dr. Massie

Completion date for this new building is set for the early part of June.

Wilson Hall, a men's housing unit, is now reserved for the freshmen.

Wilson Largest Building On Campus

MRS. OMA SLOCUM
Housemother, Wilson

Largest of Tech's dormitories, Wilson Hall provides lodging for 220 men. Following a program newly innovated at Tech last year, Wilson is inhabited entirely by freshmen. Guidance is provided for the yearlings by dorm counselors, who are junior and senior men.

Originally two separate buildings during Tech's embryonic stage, the dorm has since been remodeled with the installation of a thirty-three room structure connecting the original buildings. In more recent remodeling, facilities have been included to accommodate a housemother and an office for Dean of Men.

The size of this building creates friendly rivalry between various wings and floors, particularly during the season for intramural athletics.

Critz Hall One Of Most Active Dorms

Completed in 1950, Critz Hall contains comfortable housing for one hundred men. It is a T shaped, one story building — the only one story dormitory on campus. The students are divided by twos into the fifty rooms.

Critz is unique in many ways. It is the only housing unit on campus that sports a literary publication. Critz also seems to have its share of those students who do not conform to the various rules and regulations with enthusiasm. This, however, is a tradition that has been maintained since about 1950.

Residents of this dorm are noted for their active participation in extracurricular activities.

Critz Hall officers are: Nick Nahas, president; Jerry "Homer" Simpson, vice-president; Bobby Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

MRS. VADA HICKEY
Housemother, Critz

Critz Hall, which is constructed of white brick, is a departure from the dominating red brick structures.

Tucker Is Most Popular Dormitory

There are no corridors in Tucker. The suites are separate units.

MRS. NORMA YOUNG
Housemother, Tucker

Since its completion in 1955, John Tucker Dormitory for men has always been very popular among Tech upperclassmen. It is necessary to apply as much as six months in advance to be assured of getting a room.

The design of Tucker is unique in that there are no interior halls and the rooms and adjoining baths are divided into independent eight-man suites complete with private outside entrances.

The absence of interior hallways, which isolates the suites from one another, tends to make them a little clannish. There are always some friendly rivalries between the different suites, especially when it snows.

Officers of Tucker Dormitory are: Tim Krone, president; Jim Bushong, vice-president; Fritz Muller, secretary-treasurer; Ray Koone, reporter.

Hughes Hall Houses Many Athletics

Named after former chairman of the Division of Agriculture and Home Economics, C. A. Hughes, this dorm houses sixty students, most of whom are athletes. Participants in every major college sport — football, basketball, baseball, and track — reside in this building.

Though sports take much of the time and effort of Hughes residents, they are active in many aspects of campus life.

Only the top floor of Hughes is used for housing quarters. The bottom floor serves as an arms and supply room for the ROTC.

Dormitory officers are: John Goff, president; Joe Trowbridge, vice-president; Larry Cotton, reporter.

MRS. F. T. NEARY
Housemother, Hughes

Hughes Hall was formerly known as Rock Dorm.

DuLaney is Tech's most recently completed dorm. Another one will be completed in June.

Dulaney Most Modern Dormitory

MRS. LUCILLE FREEMAN
Housemother, DuLaney

Named after T. A. DuLaney, this dormitory will house 102 students and provide an apartment for a housemother. Each eight-man unit is refrigerated air conditioned and includes a private bath and a private entrance. DuLaney is, at the present time, the only air-conditioned dormitory at Tech.

DuLaney is also the only dorm that has room controls connected with the heating system.

The boarders at DuLaney encompass a wide range of students — from freshmen to seniors. Many of the more prominent campus personalities live at DuLaney.

Dormitory officers are: Joe Cordero, president; Monroe Morton, secretary; Edward Street, treasurer.

Turrentine Married Students Home

Recognizing the increasing role marriage plays in college life, Tech, since 1955, has constructed thirty-seven married student apartments. These three-room apartments are models of efficiency and attractiveness.

Named after G. R. Turrentine, the College's long-time dean and registrar, these apartments are the first to be constructed solely for the use of married students. These students formerly lived in trailer cities which were hastily set up after World War II to handle the influx of veterans.

Each apartment contains a living-sleeping room, dinette-kitchen and bath. There is a completely equipped laundry for the convenience of the residents.

Even with the new units, Turrentine Apartments are filled to capacity and a list of applicants is kept waiting for a vacancy.

One parent often baby-sits while the other goes to class.

Turrentine Apartments, home of the married students, is named after Tech's Registrar.

Scenes From Dormitory Life

Watching television after supper at Caraway is a regular event with many students.

Due to a nine o'clock curfew, students in Wilson have plenty of time to study.

A musical performance of this order always draws an enthusiastic crowd at Bryan.

Chess and other intellectual games have always been popular at Critz.

The editor of the "Muckraker" (A CRITZ PUBLICATION) prepares his press for the printing.

Dulaney prides itself as being the only dorm with an air-conditioner.

The student supervisor at Apartment Dorm drops by for room check and a chat.

Coaches Look Forward To Next Fall

Techsters (in white) gang together to stop a play for no gain.

Ordinarily a 5-3 football record for an Arkansas Tech grid team would seem rather dismal but Wonder Boy coaches Marvin "Shorty" Salmon and Don Dempsey look back on this year's campaign with feelings of accomplishment.

It was a rebuilding season for the Techsters and, according to the Wonder Boy mentors, a successful one. "We're going to be real tough next year," says Coach Salmon, assaying the prospects for the coming season. "We'll have to be", he added, "we have a tougher schedule." Tech opens its 1960 season against Northeast Oklahoma, the National Champion of NAIA football in 1958.

The Wonder Boys finished fourth in the AIC standings this year, losing to co-champions Arkansas State Teachers and Henderson by identical 14-12 scores. Their other loss was to Southern State, 14-0.

Tech drubbed Arkansas A&M 24-13 in the season opener and walloped Hendrix 25-7 following to the Southern State Muleriders. A 13-7 conquest of Southeast State of Oklahoma in Tech's only non-league action of the year interrupted the losses to the conference champs.

The Wonder Boys reached their peak with a sparkling 40-12 performance over their thirty-first Dad's Day victim, Ouachita Baptist College. A 14-0 shutout of College of the Ozarks provided the season's finale.

Wonder Boys Wallop A&M In Opener

Bill Curtis (44) is swarmed under by a host of ASTC tacklers in the Homecoming contest.

RUSSELLVILLE, Oct. 3 — Exploding for three touchdowns in the second half, Tech's freshman laden Wonder Boys mastered Arkansas A & M 24-13 in a battling season-conference opener.

Techster halfback Henry Brummett snared an Aggie fumble on A & M's first offensive maneuver giving Tech possession of the ball on the Boll Weevil 33-yard line. After an incomplete pass on the first down, Wonder Boy veteran Roger Lee burst up the middle for the score. Monte Boley's point-after attempt was low giving Tech a 6-0 lead with less than three minutes of the season gone.

Rugged defense by A & M and a slippery ball from a heavy pre-game downpour contributed to stopping three Wonder Boy drives deep in Aggie territory during the third quarter. Two of the drives were halted inside the one-yard line. A 15-yard pass play from Boley to Brummett penetrated the Weevil's goal-line defense on Tech's fourth consecutive scoring threat.

Tech iced the game in the final stanza with back to back TD's by Lee and freshman Bill Curtis. Both scoring thrusts were from the one-yard stripe.

A & M's only serious threat was in the third period when a 66-yard scoring jaunt cut the Tech lead 12-6. The other Aggie marker was a 70-yard scoring jaunt within the game's last 25 seconds.

Southern Blanks Techsters, 14-0

MAGNOLIA, Oct. 10 — Southern State's Mule-riders spurred for two quick TD's early in the second period and then dug in the heels of their defensive boots to horse-collar Tech, 14-0.

A brutal 'Rider forward wall, largest in the A.I.C. gained the all important field position and turned two Tech miscues into touchdowns.

A penalty on the first encounter of the second stanza backed the Wonder Boy defense to their own seven-yard line. Two plays later the 'Riders pushed over from the one.

A blocked kick moments later again gave Southern possession on the Wonder Boy seven-yard marker. A touchdown-PAT repeat furnished the 'Riders with the nest egg they retained throughout the remainder of the game.

Tech threatened once in the final period. Eddie Sayre hauled in a booming 'Rider punt on his own 19-yard line and scampered down the sideline to the Southern State 38. This drive was stopped short by a pass interception on the 16.

The 'Riders effected a stall in the waning moments to kill the Wonder Boys offensive movement and administered the only whitewashing of Tech of the 1959 campaign.

Records later showed this to be only the second shutout for Tech in the past ten years.

Techsters Wayne Parmley (66) and Calvin Moore (70) close in on a Southern State ball carrier.

Quarterback B. J. Moore calls the signals as Tech's alternate unit operates in Southern State territory.

Tech defensive men, John Ingram (52) and Bob Jones (57) slant for the sideline to head off a fleet Ouachita halfback.

Hendrix Loses 25-7 To Tech

CONWAY, Oct. 16 — Victory hungry but cautious Tech bantered with Hendrix for most of the initial period before unleashing an offensive show that wrecked the small but game Warriors, 25-7.

After a pair of punt exchanges placed the Wonder Boys in possession on the Hendrix 48, Techsters B. J. Moore, Pete Collins and Jim Argo solved the Warrior defense to the four-yard stripe, from where Argo bulled over for the six-pointer.

Moments later, in the second quarter, Argo notched his second TD with a two-yard plunge. Following what proved to be the clinching marker, Bob Jones split the uprights for a 13-0 Tech lead. Argo's smash followed by six plays a Wonder Boy fumble-recovery on the Warrior 20.

Hendrix got back in the game in the second quarter when Pete Smith ended a 45-yard scoring drive, sneaking over from the one. The Methodists converted leaving it 13-7 at halftime.

After linebacker George Leonard captured a Hendrix miscue on the 49 early in the third frame, Tech pushed rapidly to the one and Henry Brummett gathered the remainder.

Substitutes finished the contest from this point, with quarterback Lynn Hallum guiding the attack and personally accounting for a final marker with a one-yard plunge.

Gary Hickey (with ball) gathers a string of Warriors in the 25-7 decision over Hendrix. Larry Gershner (60) provides immediate support while Gary Bridges (72) and Richard Max well ready for further action.

Roger Lee (right) and Jim Bryant apply the brakes to fleet-footed Henry Hawk. The ASTC ground-gaining ace netted only 42 yards, his season low, against the hardheaded Tech defense.

ASTC Clips Wonder Boys, 14-12

RUSSELLVILLE, Oct. 24 — It was billed "The AIC game of the year" and to 6,500 screaming fans Tech's 12-14 homecoming loss to arch-rival Arkansas State Teachers College wasn't necessarily that limited.

Tech struck first and furious taking leads of 6-0 and 12-7, but ASTC's accurate placements plus the matching six-pointers gave the Bears a two point margin at halftime that weathered the scoreless second half.

Tech rookie Bill Curtis accounted for the Wonder Boy's first lead with a 10-yard scamper, with only 2:30 removed of the first period.

Teachers bounced back with a 49-yard drive to go ahead 7-6, but Tech hurriedly recovered the lead as Jim Argo bulled over from the two.

With only three minutes left in the half, Teachers added the clincher with a fourth down scoring pass from 26 yards out.

The scoreless second half was a series of frustrations for the Wonder Boys as their six drives failed in Teacher's territory. The Bears, on the other hand, reached Tech's side of the field only twice, with their deepest penetration being stopped on the 37.

Ellen Moore, wife of Tech gridster, Calvin Moore, was crowned Homecoming Queen at halftime.

The scoreboard tells the story as the Wonder Boys return to the field for the second half of the Dad's Day contest with Ouachita.

Tech speedster Eddie Sayer (39) eludes one Hendrix Warrior but quickly finds he has to deal with another.

Sooners Dropped In Non-League Contest

RUSSELLVILLE, Oct. 31 — Facing their only non-conference foe of the season, the Wonder Boys overcame an early deficit to tame the Southeastern Oklahoma Savages, 13-7.

The Sooners recovered the opening kick-off on Tech's 22-yard line and moved to paydirt in only seven plays. The TD came on a five yard pass from quarterback John Kinyo to halfback Darvis Cole. Sam Davis' kick was true for a 7-0 Savage lead.

Late in the half, the Techsters took advantage of a short punt to drive for 35 yards and a score. Senior fullback Jim Argo crashed across right guard from the five to cut the margin to 7-6 at halftime.

The winning touchdown came after a 62-yard drive in the third quarter. The longest play of the march was a 14-yard scamper by Bill Curtis to the Savage 22. Curtis, Henry Brummett, and Argo made the rest on short runs. Argo went across from the four to cap the drive and give the Wonder Boys a 12-7 lead. Monte Boley's kick provided the final margin.

Southeastern threatened late in the contest, but pass interceptions by Jim Bryant and George Leonard broke up desperation attempts and the Wonder Boys ran out the clock.

Pete Collins (38) attempts to ward off a Reddie in a game with eventual AIC co-champion, Henderson.

Techsters Fall To Henderson

ARKADELPHIA, Nov. 5 — Henderson's Reddies took advantage of two big breaks to slip by the determined Wonder Boys, 14-12, and move into a first place tie in the AIC with Arkansas State Teachers College.

The same old inefficiency — failure to kick extra points — plagued the Techsters and led to their defeat. The Wonder Boys at this point have scored 14 touchdowns but have succeeded in only two point-after attempts.

Henderson grabbed a Wonder Boy bobble on the Tech 20 early in the first stanza and moved to a fast 7-0 lead.

A bad pass from center set Tech back from the 28 to the two-yard line from where Arkadelphia built a 14-0 lead with a smash over center.

Fleetfooted Bill Curtis, right halfback reeled off a 44-yard scoring jaunt to put Tech back in the contest with a 14-6 count.

Tech gained its second counter shortly after the second half kickoff. After recovering a blocked Reddie punt on the 12, Henry Brummett carried to the two and Jim Argo went for the TD.

Neither team could effectively manipulate a running game for the remainder of the contest as sterling defensive play bottled the offensive efforts of both teams.

Touted ASTC back Henry Hawk (42) was limited to mostly defensive work against Tech. Here he brings down Bill Curtis (44).

Halfback Pete Collins looks for an opening as two of Ouachita's Tigers clutch at him. Wonder Boys Don Hart (61) and Jim Argo (41) move to assist Collins.

Tech Throttles Ouachita 40-12

RUSSELLVILLE, Nov. 13 — With the support of a crowd of beaming pops, Tech grabbed its thirty-first Dad's Day win by trampling the Ouachita Tigers, 40-12.

Tech scored in the first quarter when end Tiger McClellan intercepted a pass and returned it 14 yards to the Ouachita 31. Four plays later, half-back Bill Curtis sailed over from the 15. Guard Wayne Parmley kicked the first of his three straight conversions.

The Techsters counted three times in the second period to turn the game into a rout. Senior fullback Jim Argo scored twice for one yard and three yards. McClellan caught a partially blocked punt and sprinted 10 yards giving Tech a 27-0 halftime lead.

Tech tacked on a four-yard scoring smash in each of the last two periods relying mostly on reserve strength. Henry Brummett gathered the first marker to give the Techsters a 33-0 lead, and Carroll Kemp crashed over in the final period following Ouachita's 12 points. Tech tackle, Tommy Henson kicked the PAT following Kemp's TD.

Fumbles set up Ouachita's scores, one on a 25-yard lateral play by Frankie Francis and another for 68 yards by Tiger and Charles Davis.

Referee Prior Evans signals the score as Tech fullback Jim Argo crashes over for a touchdown against Ouachita. Other Tech players are Buddy Cagle (83), Gary Hickey (45) and Tommy Hensen (74).

This Arkansas A&M back looks for another route, but cannot find one as Techster's Gary Bell (73) and Jim Bryant rush in for the tackle.

Green And Gold Sink Mountaineers

RUSSELLVILLE, Nov. 21 — Tech's Green and Gold tide uncorked two long scoring drives to inundate the College of the Ozarks, 14-0, in the season finale.

The Mountaineers displayed an effective ground game in the opening frame that pushed the Techsters back on their own 15. Bob Jones intercepted a pass to kill the threat and give the Wonder Boys possession on the 10-yard hash mark.

With the ball on the 10 Tech drove 90 yards on 20 plays to score its first touchdown. Fullback Jim Argo climaxed the drive with a three-yard smash off right tackle. Wayne Parmley kicked the PAT for a 7-0 Tech lead.

In the final stanza the Wonder Boys put together a serious threat, picking up a first down on the Mountaineers' 28. However on three plays the Wonder Boys were penalized 60 yards, forcing Tech to punt.

The next time Tech got the ball the Wonder Boys drove 68 yards for the clinching touchdown. Henry Brummett scored standing up on a three-yard end sweep to cap the drive. Parmley again kicked true for the final point.

The victory closed out Tech's season on a 5-3 note with four of the wins coming in conference play. All the defeats were at the hands of AIC foes.

Coach "Shorty" Salmon gets an exuberant ride to the locker-room following the 14-0 plastering of C of O, which gave Tech a 5-3 record. Tech players are: Carroll Kemp (left) B. J. Moore and Monte Boley.

Football Homecoming A Gala Affair

Colonel Croom, president of the Alumni Association crowns Ellen Moore thereby officially beginning her reign as Homecoming Queen.

The crowning of Queen Ellen Moore, wife of B. J. Moore of the Wonder Boy squad, by Colonel Fred Croom climaxed a day of Homecoming festivities at Tech.

Though the lack of transportation stymied the possibility of floats this year, there was a small Homecoming parade and pep rally downtown. To replace the missing floats, a dormitory decoration contest was held. Caraway Hall's octopus won the forty dollar first prize.

As another part of the celebration, Dulaney Hall, Tech's newest and most modern dormitory, was dedicated.

The game against State Teachers, Tech's arch-rival, drew the largest crowd of the season. The Wonder Boys performed creditably against the highly rated Bears, losing 12-14 because of extra points. This was the only low moment of an otherwise exciting day for Tech students and alumni.

Homecoming royalty other than Queen Ellen were Kay Duff, junior from Plummerville, Tommye Olive, junior from Russellville, Mona Martin, freshman from Russellville, and Joy McClellan, freshman from Harrison.

SAM HINDSMAN
Coach

"We're looking to the future rather than to the past," Coach Sam Hindsman remarked during the 1959-60 basketball season.

The comment originally referred to Tech's 7-3 conference record following the second loss to AIC leader Arkansas State Teachers College. Although the Wonder Boys eventually claimed the conference title, the coach could sum it up no better.

Before the season began, Hindsman stated that inexperience would play a big part in his team's success. His early opinion was borne out during the regular season and loomed like a prophecy following the semi-finals loss in the post-season N.A.I.A. tournament.

With no seniors and only one junior on the Green and Gold squad, the fortune of the Wonder Boys relied mostly on freshmen this year. J. P. Lovelady, the team's only letterman, and Don Vance were the only veterans on the first unit until Larry Cotton returned at semester.

The rest of the load was shouldered most frequently by freshmen James and Frank Davis, Ken Saylor, Johnny Clayburn, Jack Hamm, and the squad's only other veteran, Bob Treat.

With the team's boundless potential in underclassmen, one finds it easy to gaze with Coach Hindsman toward the future.

J. P. Lovelady (52) lays one in for two points.

Going high to reach the ball, Don Vance (54) manages to get it.

The camera catches the expressions of the various players as the ball bounds from the backboard.

James Davis (50) attempts to defend the basket against a Louisiana Tech player.

Tech 72—Delta State 54. To an experienced observer or a "post season prophet" much could be read into Tech's first game of the season. Freshmen Kenny Saylor tossed in 23 points in his initial collegiate effort, taking high point honors for the game. Stalwart performers J. P. Lovelady and Don Vance also hit in the double digits while leading the Wonder Boys to a heavy rebound edge over the Statesmen.

Tech 105—Harding 81. Tech's slack defense and torrid offense set the pace for the Harding Bisons in their AIC opener. The smaller Bisons were equal to the occasion, however. Hitting 51.9 percent from the field, the Techsters were never seriously threatened. Tech owned a 53-35 lead at half-time. First year men James Davis and Kenny Saylor paced the victors with 19 and 17 points respectively.

State Teachers 59—Tech 58. Basketing a free throw with six seconds remaining in overtime, Arkansas State Teachers College continued a two year jinx on the Wonder Boys by a one point margin. Trailing by as much as six points in the final frame, Teachers whittled consistently on the Wonder Boy lead. An ASTC basket in the final ten seconds sent the game into overtime with a 58-58 tie setting the stage for the overtime basket and Tech's first loss of the season.

Tech 65—Arkansas A&M 56. After trailing the first twelve minutes, the Wonder Boys found the scoring range and drubbed the eventual N.A.I.A. District 5 Tournament winning Boll Weevils by a margin of eight points. J. P. Lovelady put the Techsters in front with a charity toss and they were never headed from that time on. Tech tyro Kenny Saylor paced the victors in the point department with 20.

Tech 88—Hendrix 56. Commanding a quick eight point lead, the run-and-shoot Tech offenses were never stopped, as they ran up the 32 point victory margin over the Methodists. Collectively the Wonder Boys hit 44 percent of their shots despite the fact that the entire squad saw action. The Methodists were held to a 29 percent clip. Jim Lovelady led the Tech team in scoring, with 18 points, and in rebounding, grabbing 13 off the boards.

Tech 81—College of the Ozarks 66. Publicity releases from the C of O camp prior to the contest listed this as the game of the decade for Ozarks. And well it might have been. The Mountaineers were studded with eager, impressive rookies and were unbeaten in league action. Tech countered with a well-oiled scoring machine, taking leads of 18-5, 27-8, and 42-27 in the first period. Ken Saylor, Jim Davis, and J. P. Lovelady scored 16, 15, 13 points respectively.

A mid-semester returnee Larry Cotton with his amazing defensive tactics aided the Techsters stretch drive for the championship. Here he bats down an attempted shot by a Harding Bison. Other Tech players are Jim Lovelady (52), Don Vance (54), and Ken Saylor (32).

Tech defensive specialist Don Salmon (15) gets blocked from behind as he goes up for a shot against College of the Ozarks.

Tech 81—St. Benedict's 77. Exploding for 14 points in overtime after a 67-67 deadlock, Tech healed an old wound by cooling the highly touted Kansas crew. In the only previous meeting of the pair, St. Benedict's whipped Tech in the semi-finals of the 1954 NAIA tournament, which the Kansans went on to win. Tech held a brief 1-0 lead but never ahead again until the overtime period. Kenny Saylors, Don Vance, and Jim Lovelady led Tech's scoring with 28, 19, and 18 respectively.

Louisiana Tech 93—Tech 74. The Wonder Boys took brief leads of 6-5, and 8-7, and little else, except what Coach Hindsman called an education in the finer points of basketball. "It should help us," Hindsman said after the game, "we learned a lot." The Louisiana professor emeritus was the 6'5" All-American, Jackie Moreland, who had his best night of the year with 15 field goals and a total of 45 points. Ken Saylors and Jim Davis led Tech's scoring with 23 points each. J. P. Lovelady tossed in 19 points.

Tech 95—Southern State 71. Tech led all the way against the on-again off-again Muleriders. The 'Riders all-league selection, Frank Dolan, was held to 15 points, far below his season average. The Wonder Boys held a 46-38 advantage at halftime. Kenneth Saylor took scoring honors for the Techsters, bucketing 23 points. John Clayborn and J. P. Lovelady followed with 14 each.

Larry Cotton (10), Ken Saylors (32), and Don Vance (54) follow through on a charity toss by J. P. Lovelady (52).

Tech 111—Henderson 59. Tech was hitting at peak performance and the Reddies were at a low ebb. The result was obvious from the beginning. The Wonder Boys grabbed a fast seven points before the Reddies scratched in the scoring column, and put together 34 points while Henderson was building to nine. The Tech regulars, playing less than half the contest, scored 74 points. Freshman Kenny Saylor led the attack with 25 points.

Tech 98—Ouachita 96. With 30 seconds remaining in the contest J. P. Lovelady bucketed a two-hand jump shot from 25 feet out, giving Tech its first clear claim to the league title. Lovelady's game winning basket broke a 96-96 tie and snapped an eight game winning streak by the Baptists. Tech had the upper hand throughout the contest, owning a 48-40 advantage at halftime, and a 12 point margin late in the game. Jim Lovelady led all scorers with 26 points.

Hook-shot ace, Jim Davis, adds the finishing touch to a successful fast break against State Teachers.

Tech rookie, Frank Davis (24), catches the ASTC defender off-guard long enough to jump one in from the charity stripe. Other Techsters are Jack Hamm (34), Dick James (42), and Johnny Clayburn (12).

Arkansas College 89—Tech 87. A 34-foot toss, moments ahead of the buzzer, by Arkansas College's Birdy Rogers knocked the props from under the Wonder Boys' brief league lead. The Scots led most of the game, once by a 14-point spread, but Tech closed the gap in the final moments. Jim Lovelady tied the game with 1:10 left to play, setting the stage for Rogers' desperation basket. Lovelady was high for Tech with 19.

Tech 116—Southern Baptist 65. The Techsters were clearly seeking to heal the wound of Arkansas College's upset earlier in the week and this was the small non-conference Walnut Ridgers that had to bear the brunt of the revenge. Twelve of the 13 Wonder Boys seeing action contributed to the point parade. Don Vance enjoyed his best night, point-wise, leading all scorers with 20.

State Teachers 79—Tech 69. A smooth offense led by the 33-point output by John Robinson, the AIC's top scorer, and a fly-paper-like defense proved an unbeatable combination to the Wonder Boys. After losing a short-lived 2-0 lead, the Techsters were forced to play catch-up ball throughout the contest. They edged within one at the 10-9 count and cut the margin to 48-44 in the later stages of the game.

Don Vance (54), Tech's 6-10 center controls the tip-off against Southern Baptist College. Jim Lovelady (52) and Johnny Clayburn (12) anticipate the tip from outside the circle.

Arkansas A&M 75—Tech 62. The tried-and-true conference dark horse, A&M, rared its head and served notice with this solid trouncing of Tech. The Wonder Boys weren't to lose again until they met these same Boll Weevils in the NAIA tournament semi-finals, but Tech's outlook was dim at this point. Now playing a deep third in the conference standings, the Wolder Boys were ready to begin their drive for the league title.

Tech 73—Delta State 59. A 30-point performance by Tech's 6'5" J. P. Lovelady set the Wonder Boys on their winning ways. The game began in a see-saw fashion, but Tech moved in front at 23-22 and was never headed. Tech sank 28 of 67 field goal attempts and dropped in 17 of 21 from the charity stripe. This game set Tech's season mark at 12-4.

Tech 69—Hendrix 61. Tech's height was the superior dividend in decisioning the upset-minded Warriors. J. P. Lovelady, 6'5", and Don Vance, 6'10", cleaned the backboards for the Techsters while leading the scoring with 20 and 19 points respectively. The Methodists were a constant threat throughout the game, but could get no closer than the 34-32 halftime tally.

Jack Bradford (22) lays up a crisp shot over the hand of a Harding Bison defensive man.

Jim Davis (50) gets a shot away among three would-be Ozark defenders. Jack Bradford (22) is in the background.

Tech 79—College of the Ozarks 60. After trailing 16-15 and 18-17, Tech solved the Mountaineers and held a 34-26 halftime advantage. With Tech's first two teams sharing equal billing, the Wonder Boys lead shifted from 20 to 18 points through most of the last half before settling on the 19 point winning margin. Jim Lovelady led Tech's well-balanced attack with 12 markers, followed closely by Don Vance and Bob Treat with 11 each.

Tech 89—Harding 73. Scoring 21 of his 30 points in the second half, Rookie Ken Saylor paced the Wonder Boys past the fiery, second division Bisons. Harding, at one stage in the final period, ran up a six-point margin over the Techsters. The Bisons, however, weakened under pressure in the late stages of the contest. Tech knotted the score, 68-68, with six minutes to play, and raced on to their 16 point margin with comparative ease.

Tech 57—Henderson 51. The Reddies, still smarting from the lambasting at the hands of the Wonder Boys earlier in the season, lashed out with pride and determination, but it failed to match up with Tech's superior shooting and height. Stressing slow, deliberate ball control and defense the Reddies led most of the first half, but were down 28-25 at the mid-point. Headed by a 17-point performance by Don Vance, Tech completely dominated the second stanza.

Tech 83—Ouachita 53. Tech hit a torrid 53 percent from the field and held Ouachita's offensive work to nil, knocking the Tigers from a first place tie to third in the league. The Wonder Boys jumped to a quick point lead, staved off a weak first half challenge by the Baptists, and then turned the contest into a rout Ken Saylor and Jim Davis led all scorers with 17 points each, followed closely by Jim Lovelady with 16.

Tech 77—Arkansas College 65. The same small, rowdy Highlanders, that earlier in the season knocked the Wonder Boys from a brief league-leading jaunt, were the door mats as Tech strided back into first position in the AIC. The Techsters jumped a 35-31 halftime advantage to 57-38 midway in the second stanza. The tech subs withstood the Scots closing efforts. Ken Saylor paced all scorers with 23 points.

Tech 87—Southern State 72. A 39-point shooting spree by Freshman Ken Saylor clinched the Wonder Boys' ninth AIC Title. After the early moments, Southern was never closer than eight points. Saylor's point total, second best individual effort in the league this year, ironically came against the Muleriders, whose Frank Dolan had previously posted the top mark with 40 points. Saylor closed the season as the league's top scorer and the third best shooter percentage wise.

Frank Davis (24) attempts a jump shot from way out.

Tech's best all-around basketballer, J. P. Lovelady (52), demonstrates his skill in controlling the backboards by gathering two points on a tip-in. Don Vance (54) prepares to give assistance.

Tech 81—Henderson 57. Tech had no trouble controlling the Reddies in the third match of the year for the two clubs. The third victory at the expense of the Arkadelphians came in the first round of the District 17 NAIA Tournament at Pine Bluff. The Wonder Boys chipped in a hot .794 from the charity stripe in gaining the hefty advantage over the Reddies. Kenny Saylor tossed in 23 points.

Arkansas A&M 71—Tech 55. The surprise team of the conference, Arkansas A&M, snapped a Tech nine-game winning streak while extending their own streak to 13 in topping the Wonder Boys in the semi-finals of the NAIA Tourney. Tech lost an early lead with a 17-17 tie, and never regained control of the Aggies. The Techsters pulled even with the Weevils at the 26 and 35 point marks but trailed by 10 when A&M hit the half-century count. Ken Saylor chipped in 14 points for the Wonder Boys.

Dickie James (42) joins a scramble under the basket for control of the ball. Johnny Clayburn (12) appears ready to join the mix-up.

Baseball Team Makes A Slow Start

Tech diamond coach, Don Dempsey, gives his outfield some early season practice in chasing the ball.

The Wonder Boys' baseball season got off to a slow start this year. At deadline time the record stood at eight losses and one tie.

After losing the opener to Henderson State Teachers College, Tech took on Mankato State, a small college in Minnesota. This team, considered one of the better small squads in the country, defeated the Techsters 7-5, 3-0, and 1-0 before continuing on their tour of the South.

The first battle with State Teachers ended in a 6-6 tie. The contest was finally called because of darkness. The game will be replayed in May if it affects AIC standings. The highlight of the game occurred when Terry Curry lined a fast ball into the left field bleachers to put Tech ahead by two runs in the sixth inning. The game went sixteen innings.

Don Dempsey left his position as coach at Mountain Home and returned to his alma mater to become the first full-time baseball coach as well as assistant coach of the football squad.

Last year the baseball team won three games and lost nine. The wins occurred in the first games against Henderson, Ouachita, and Harding.

Jack Warner (12) gets tossed out at first in a game against powerful Mankato State. Jim Shamy, Wonder Boy moundsman and first-base coach is far right.

Tech Track Team Shows Promise

Track mentor "Shorty" Salmon built a formidable thinclad crew from an array of novices and a sprinkling of lettermen.

Tech's 1959 track squad pulled down four firsts from the eight meets of the season. In three of the other four contests Tech's track team came out in second or third place.

Tech earned only ten points in the annual Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference meet after the regular season. This put Tech in sixth place.

Hendrix and State Teachers tied for first place with fifty points apiece. They were followed by Henderson, Ouachita, Harding, College of the Ozarks, and Arkansas A&M, whose team copped only one point.

Stand-outs on this year's team include Eddie Sayre, who has been running well in the hundred yard sprint and even better in the two-twenty. Ronald Price a freshman from Jacksonville has consistently thrown the discus over one-hundred and forty feet.

One of the best efforts of the season was the meet against Ouachita and Henderson. Tech accumulated almost twenty points more than the second place Hendrix did.

Severe weather has handicapped the track squad as well as the baseball team.

Track veteran Eddie Sayre, one of the leagues best sprint men, takes a first in the 220.

Ronald Price uncorks a 141-7 throw with the discus. At the time of the toss, it was the best distance in the AIC for the season.

Henry Brummett copped first with this leap in the broad jump.

Pole vaulter Bill Curtis tops the bar in the Techsters' first meet.

Eddie Sayre edges Ozarks' Jim Cater in the 100-yard dash.

Robert Pilgrim, a top point-getter for the thinclads, is on the way to a first place in the 220-yard dash.

Girls' Team Hurt By Inexperience

MARGARET WILSON
Coach

Lack of experience contributed to the losing season of the team this year. Basketball know-how coupled with the addition of several new players should lead the squad to a better record next year.

Miss Margaret Wilson, mentor for the girls' basketball, returned to Tech after an absence of one year.

No seniors are scheduled to graduate from the team and all will be back next year, giving Miss Wilson the nucleus to build a strong 1960-61 edition of the Wonder Girls.

Kay Lynn Wilson, sophomore from Stuttgart, Burla Hedden, junior from Mountain Pine, and Barbara Mattox, sophomore from Mountainburg were recipients of special awards in Arkansas Tech basketball this year. Kay Lynn placed on the All-AAU first team, Burla was chosen for the second team, and Barbara was awarded the annual sportsmanship trophy presented by all the girls on the team.

The Tech team competed in the AAU women's basketball tournament, held at Little Rock, this year. The girls made it to the semi-finals where they were defeated by the team that went on to win the tournament.

ORGANIZATIONS

ORVAL FAUBUS
Governor of Arkansas

Though one of the more unpublicized and unspectacular of the governor's duties, the responsibility of looking after the welfare of the many state-supported colleges is very important and requires a great deal of attention.

The condition of the state's schools is directly related to the labors of the governor and other officials.

Tech Students Organize Archery Club

The Archery Club is another one of the newly-formed clubs on the Tech campus this year. Students who are interested in the sport are encouraged to join.

This organization has already sponsored one contest at which the Tech club and clubs from several other colleges around the state competed. Another meet is being planned and will probably be held before school is let out for summer vacation.

It is not uncommon to see members of the club out practicing on warm days. They practice both in groups and individually.

Agri Day One Of Tech's Big Events

MELVERN WATSON
Sponsor

Arkansas Tech's Agri Club sponsors one of the biggest events of the school year in their annual Agri Day.

The club publishes an annual Agri edition of the Arka-Tech along with the other happenings of the day, including a dance, picnic, and special programs.

An Agri King and Queen are chosen for the occasion.

Membership in the organization is open to students enrolled in the Division of Agriculture. Promoting ideas for the improvement of farming, developing leadership, and giving its members an opportunity for self-expression are the principle aims of the organization.

Engineers' Day is one of the highlights of the year for the Engineer Club. On that day it puts out its own edition of the Arka-Tech, the school paper, and sponsors various other activities, such as the perilous rope-pulling between the slide-rule boys and the agris.

Saint Patrick's Dance and the annual tour to points of interest around the country are other high points of the year.

“T” Club Promotes Techster Loyalty

The “T” Club is the social organization of Tech athletes. The purpose of the organization is to promote school loyalty and spirit and to further the welfare of the school, especially in sports.

Only men students who have lettered in one or more of the major sports — football, basketball, baseball, and track — are eligible for membership in the “T” Club. Prospective members are put through a pretty rugged initiation.

This organization selects the football Homecoming royalty.

Agricola Records Year's Highlights

This is a common sight around the yearbook office.

The Agricola is the yearbook of Arkansas Tech. As such, the responsibility of recording the year's highlights falls to the Agricola staff members. With this responsibility goes a great deal of hard work.

A member of the Arkansas Collegiate Press Association since 1958, the Agricola has won two firsts and a second in the yearbook contests that have been held over the past three years.

The editorship is an elected office. Other staff positions, except that of photographer which is an appointed position, are filled by volunteers.

Arka-Tech Noted For High Standards

JIM DAVIS
Business Manager

Arkansas Tech's student newspaper, the Arka-Tech, published once a week, has always held a place in Arkansas' small colleges for its high standard of reporting and vigorous editorial policy.

The Arka-Tech has won the Editorial Effectiveness division of the annual ACPA contest for the last four years. In '58-'59 the newspaper finished second in the Sweepstakes and second in the general contest.

Staff members include journalism majors and any others interested in newspaper work.

The editor and business manager are chosen in the Spring election.

Student Council Serves As Medium

The Student Council is responsible for many of the dances held on the Tech campus.

With the adoption of a completely new set of by-laws added to the constitution in the Spring elections last year, the Arkansas Tech Student Council has acquired a great deal more authority in student and school affairs than they have had before as a medium between the administration and the student body.

The president, two vice-presidents and representatives are selected in the Spring elections. The Council appoints a secretary and reporter from the representatives chosen from each division.

Tech's Council is responsible for overseeing student entertainment and for regulating money-making projects of campus organizations.

OFFICERS: Ronnie Boswell, president; Jim Sparks, first vice-president; Bob Porter, second vice-president.

Established in 1958 under a provision of the Student Council Constitution, the Student Court is, under this same provision of the constitution, responsible for student discipline at Tech.

The chief justice of the court is the first vice-president of the student body, the second vice-president is the attorney general. The presidents of the junior and senior classes plus two students appointed by the council and the administration are the other justices.

The court works closely with the council and administration.

Band Standouts Compose Greek Group

Kappa Kappa Psi is a national honorary band fraternity which was introduced to Tech in 1958. The organization consists of outstanding Tech bandsmen. It was the hundredth Kappa Kappa Psi chapter initiated in the nation since the fraternity's origin in 1919 at the University of Oklahoma.

Its purpose is to provide worthwhile musical, social, and educational opportunities for its members and other bandsmen.

Kappa Kappa Psi, in collaboration with the women's band sorority, Tau Beta Sigma, sponsors most of the informal band parties.

OFFICERS: John Jennings, president; Mickey Barnes, vice-president; Bobby Anderson, secretary-treasurer; Jimmy Greer, parliamentarian.

Tau Beta Sigma Is National Sorority

Most of the Tau Beta Sigma girls are music majors and spend a considerable amount of time in classes such as this one.

Though organized later, on a national level, than Kappa Kappa Psi, Tau Beta Sigma exists for the same purposes: to aid the band in every way possible, and to provide recognition for outstanding bandsmen — except in this case, bandswomen.

Along with Kappa Kappa Psi the girls in this club are responsible for almost all of the band parties.

OFFICERS: Mary Anne Sawyer, president; Rosemary Smee, vice-president; Barbara Chenault, secretary; Ann Burrow, treasurer.

Music Educators Get Organized

JOHN HALL ETHRIDGE
 President

The Music Educators National Conference, in its first year on the Tech campus, is composed of students who are majoring in music and plan to teach in the public schools upon graduating from college.

The main purpose of the society lies in better understanding the problems confronting the music educator and in developing practical solutions to these problems.

Several of the college's most outstanding Fine Arts students are members of this organization.

Though at present the club is fairly small, it is believed that membership will increase in a short time.

Dr. John Wainwright sponsors the club.

Student NEA Aids Future Teachers

The Student National Education Association is designed to benefit those students who plan to teach after graduating from college.

Students in this organization get a great deal of practical knowledge of the programs. Applying for a job is given serious consideration by this group. Setting up mock interviews have been a part of past programs.

Dr. Oren Rankin, chairman of Tech's Division of Education, is supervisor of the Student N.E.A.

AWS Council Governs Tech Women

"Lady of the Apple Blossom" candidates: Mary Lee Boren, Launa Dunn, Jo Boswell, Metta N. Plegge, Dorothy Dukes.

Tech's AWS Council is the governing body for the women students on the campus. It has charge of electing officers and representatives from each class, dormitory, and organization.

The council coordinates the activities of the organization, setting up the rules governing the women, and trying cases of infringements of these rules.

Each year the AWS selects by popular vote the senior woman who has contributed most to the status of women students on the Tech campus. This award, "Lady of the Apple Blossom", was awarded to Jo Boswell, a Russellville senior and Tech's first speech major, this year.

A get-acquainted party at the beginning of the year starts off the AWS activities and a tea honoring senior women ends them.

Colhecon is the club for Tech Home Economics majors. Since the Homec program was recently expanded into a four-year program, this club has acquired a new importance among Tech organizations.

The primary purpose of the club is, naturally, to foster interest in Home Economics, but it also stresses the development of creative leadership in the home and community.

Colhecon club members actively participate in local, state, and national homec conventions.

They also sponsor Agri Day and the annual FFA-FHA meet in cooperation with the Tech Agri Club.

An annual Colhecon Christmas party is one of their traditional social events.

Some of the Colhecon officers get together for an informal discussion after the regular meeting.

Les Danseurs Modern Dance Group

CLOCKWISE: Wanda Hollabaugh, Jean Owens, Barbara Chenault, Ralph Nichols, Judy Sammons, Nancy Hockersmith, Betty Niemeyer, Brenda Metcalf.

Three of the modern dance group strike a pose for the photographer.

Les Danseurs is in its first year of existence at Tech. It is a modern dance group composed of students who have had at least one semester instruction in dancing. Prospective members are voted on by the club before being allowed to join.

The group performed at the Dad's Day assembly last semester and has a major recital planned for later on this spring.

Miss Margaret Wilson, instructor in physical education, sponsors the group. Miss Wilson also teaches the dancing classes here.

Artists And Designers Guild Active

Primarily for art majors, this organization is a direct result of the rapid expansion of Tech's art department.

The purpose of the Guild is to induce a greater amount of contact and interest among art and design majors, and to provide recognition for the art work being done on campus.

Campus programs concerned with art or design are often sponsored by this organization. The last art show put on by the guild was very successful. It was well attended and several works done by Tech students were sold.

The Guild is sponsored by Mort Smith, head of the art department.

All Theater Guild's Plays Successful

The errant husband pleads for forgiveness from his spouse in "The Constant Wife".

Tech's Little Theatre Group has produced two plays so far this year and another is planned for the very near future.

"Ghosts" by Hendrik Ibsen was the first production of the year, and "The Constant Wife" by Somerset Maugham the second. Both plays were well-received though Tech students seemed to prefer the Maugham comedy over the dramatic "Ghosts".

"The Constant Wife" was directed by Jo Boswell, senior speech major.

Third on the list of plays for this year is "The Cave Dwellers", slated for some time in April.

All theatrical activities are under the direct supervision of Wallace Sterling, head of the Tech speech department.

"Ghosts" was the first production of the year.

Blue Key Known For Leadership

A few characters always show up at the Blue Key Variety Show.

Blue Key National Honor Fraternity is one of the most active organizations on the Tech campus. Open only to outstanding junior and senior men, Blue Key is naturally a select group.

The purpose of Blue Key is to recognize leadership among college men. Emphasis is also placed on scholarship and moral character.

Blue Key presents a variety show in the spring of each year. This is one of the outstanding events of the semester for the student body as well as the fraternity.

Tech's chapter also has as a major project a high school leadership conference in the fall.

A spring semester scholarship is awarded to a freshman male student.

WRA Promotes Physical Activity

The chief goal of the Women's Recreational Association is to promote intramural sports and other recreational activities for Tech's women students. Membership is open to all women students participating in intramurals.

An award is presented each year to a male athlete on the basis of good sportsmanship.

Awards are also presented to Tech women who letter in a sport and to the cheerleaders.

One of the most outstanding occasions of the school year, the "Miss Arkansas Tech" contest is planned and carried through by this club and its director, Miss Margaret Wilson

Cardinal Key is a national honorary sorority, the purpose of which is to recognize leadership in college women.

Only junior and senior women of high scholastic and personal ability are accepted. The club votes on each prospective member before he is accepted.

Tech's chapter of Cardinal Key is devoted to worthy projects and endeavors to aid the welfare of the college in any manner that it is able.

Cardinal Key assists Blue Key with the high school leadership conference which is held in the fall of each year.

Tech PEMM Club

Accents Phys Ed

Though there is now no rule against male students joining the PEMM Club, all members are, at present anyway, girls.

The Physical Education Majors and Minors Club encourage the understanding of physical education as applied to all people, the advancement of professional interests in physical education, and the broadening of information and participation along professional lines.

Officers of the coming year are always announced at the "Spring Cook-Out", a traditional event held each year by the club.

Margaret Wilson supervises the club's activities.

B. S. U. Is Open To All Students

The Baptist Student Union, just across the street from Caraway Hall, is conveniently located for Tech students.

The Baptist Student Union represents the Southern Baptist Church of Russellville to Tech students. Located immediately adjacent to the campus, it is easily accessible to most Tech students.

The purpose of the B.S.U. is two-fold: first, it promotes the spiritual and moral growth of the student through a campus program complementing the church's ministry; second, it seeks to relate the individual student to his church and denomination.

Sponsored by Mr. Neil Jackson, the B.S.U. is partly operated by the students themselves, who lead devotionals, songs and prayers.

For the second consecutive year the B.S.U. is conducting a religious emphasis week on the campus.

Wesley House Emphasizes Fellowship

All Tech students are welcome to the Wesley House.

The Wesley Foundation is a part of the Methodist Student Movement. Located just south of the campus on El Paso Avenue, the Wesley House serves as a "home away from home" for the Methodist students.

"The Wesley Wonder", edited by Bobby Pullen, made its appearance on the Tech campus in January. This official publication contains articles by students and often faculty members on many moral topics.

The house includes a well-equipped kitchen, ping-pong tables, a radio and a small library for the convenience of the students. It provides an opportunity for students to become acquainted with each other through campus and regional meetings.

Many Tech Students Practice Teach

These twenty-six senior education majors are completing one of the requirements for their degrees. It is necessary that they spend twelve weeks teaching in area schools under the supervision of an older teacher.

Besides the practice teaching, which is worth twelve hours credit, they can take a three hour course which is divided for their benefit into two parts, three weeks before practice teaching and three weeks afterwards.

The practice teachers are not an official Tech organization.

Newman Club For Catholic Students

The Newman Club sponsors a banquet each year to which Members of the Tech administration and faculty are invited.

The Newman Club at Arkansas Tech is "a club of Catholic culture and Catholic fellowship." It is designed to foster the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of the Catholic students at Tech and weld them into a common union. It also tries to aid the college and its students whenever it possibly can.

The Newman Club is not restricted to Tech. Newman Clubs have been organized on over five-hundred college and university campuses in the United States. They have taken as their motto: "Newmanism is Catholicism on secular campuses."

Ceremonies ROTC Band's Specialty

CADET CAPTAIN JOHN JENNINGS

As the provider of music for drills, parades, and reviews, the ROTC Band fills an important roll. In addition, the marches played by the band make it much easier to drill than by counting cadences. an hour inside and spent the remaining hour out-

During the first semester the group practiced side, but this semester they drill in regular Brigade formation.

Cadet 2nd Lt. Michael Barnes commanded the band first semester; Cadet 2nd Lt. John West was executive officer.

Cadet Captain John Jennings is commander this semester.

Drill Team Performs Around State

Performances

The drill team is the showpiece of the Arkansas Tech ROTC Department. It marched at all military ceremonies and functions, such as the presentation of sponsors at the Dad's Day game and the IG Inspection. Besides these, it marched at parades, fairs, and football games around the state.

Organized from volunteers, the team worked hard for the first three months of school. By then it was capable of delivering a highly polished performance.

Rifle teams are considered very important by the Army as they stress accurate firing, a necessity to any branch of armed services.

Tech's rifle team is composed of volunteers, who are not necessarily proficient in firing a small calibre rifle at the time they join.

The team belongs to a league composed of Ouachita Baptist College, Henderson State College, Arkansas State College and Tech. All groups are sponsored by ROTC units.

Tech finished third in the league this year.

Major Frederick J. Keifer sponsors the team; Sergeant L. J. Ferguson coaches.

MHS Opportunity For Leadership

The purpose of the Military Honor Society is to emphasize the advantages of the ROTC program, to promote good fellowship and high scholarship, to provide opportunity for military leadership through actual practice, and to afford useful training in the social graces and personality development.

In order to be eligible for the club students must have an average of B or better in Military Science.

An annual banquet highlights the year for the Society, but it also sponsors a hayride and a spring picnic.

This year's officers are: Bill Harmon, commander; Louis Crook, executive officer; Kenneth Bowden, adjutant; Bill Shepherd, First Sergeant; Bill Green, public information officer.

Band Winds Up Successful Year

Tech's eighty-five piece concert band, the largest in the state, has already had an unusually successful season, and there are more performances to come before school is out.

The band played two concerts earlier this year. The first was just before the semester break. The second, at which Harold Brasch, solo euphoniumist with the United States Navy Band, appeared, was held in the middle of February.

Perhaps the highlight of the year as far as band members were concerned occurred when they went on a tour of Northwest Arkansas. The band played at Booneville, Waldron, DeQueen, Mena, and Van Buren. The tour was terminated at the Bi-State music festival at Ft. Smith where the Tech musicians filled the guest band spot.

Twenty-three Tech bandsmen were chosen for Arkansas Intercollegiate Band. This was a considerable number more than was selected from any other school in the state.

There will be a spring concert in the early part of May, and a final performance at graduation exercises in June.

Band members bide their time before embarking on a tour of Northwest Arkansas.

The 1959-60 Esquires

Composed of Tech musicians, all of whom are in the band, and under the direction of Lauren Bartlett, the Esquires are justifiably thought of as one of the better dance bands in the state.

The Esquires play at most Tech social functions, and they are hired by many groups outside Tech for dances, banquets, and other social occasions.

Oftentimes the band must travel to a far part of the state for an engagement. As all traveling is done on the Tech bus, the "Green Demon", this is a major drawback to being in the dance band.

Vocalists Have Heavy Schedule During Both Semesters

DR. JOHN WAINWRIGHT
Director

This year has been an active one for the Arkansas Tech choir. The choir gave its first performance in September as a part of the Student Life Committee's series of programs.

The next concert was the traditional one at Christmas though the group appeared at several assemblies, including the Dad's Day program, in between.

In February the choir gave what was perhaps their major recital of the year. Included in the program was a complete cantata and a number with a brass choir, which was composed of Tech band students.

Many of the choir members are Fine Arts majors, but the majority consists of students who are not studying music but enjoy singing.

Both the women's trio and the men's quartet are selected from the choir and are directed by choirmaster Dr. John Wainwright.

CALENDAR

Signing up for classes is an ordeal that must be faced at the beginning of every school year.

Registration Begins 2nd Half-Century

Student Body President Ronnie Boswell welcomes a student to the President's Ball.

The fifty-first year of school started with the ordinary number of lines, registration lines, classification lines, bookstore lines; and, of course, lines where the subject of the usual number of jokes: "Did you know that a course is going to be offered on standing in line? It will be called 'An Understanding and Appreciation of Linestanding'. One hour credit."

During the hassle of the first few days, assemblies were held to 'orient everybody'. Freshmen attended these meetings; upperclassmen were conspicuous by their collective absence.

The first social event of the year was the President's Ball, which offered freshmen a chance to get acquainted and give upperclassmen the opportunity for renewing old friendships.

But these tumultuous times did not last long. After the opening week of school, things pretty much settled down.

By the second week students were well on the way into their studies, the band and ROTC were being organized for a year's work, and the football team was down to serious business in its training schedule.

Then arrived a lull in activities between the first days and football season which was not so much listlessness as an expectant pause. Another year was on the way.

While delivering a demonstration-lecture on handling sidearms safely, Captain Henry Murphy accidentally shot himself in the hand. Fortunately the weapon was loaded with blanks. The person in sunglasses sympathizing with Capt. Murphy could not be identified, but is assumed to be another firearms expert.

Bob Edwards, editor of the 1959 Agricola, receives a plaque for having the best all-around yearbook in the AIC. First place awards were won in photography, layout, and copywriting.

Ben Red, a Little Rock photographer, came to the campus in the early part of the year to make the individual portraits for the yearbook.

Football Center Of Interest

The Arkansas Tech Choir sang at the first of a number of convocations sponsored by the Student Life Committee.

Impromptu Pep Rallies And Nightly Espionage Flourish

A walki-talkie system was part of the defense set up against night visitors.

With the advent of football season, life brightened up for many Tech students. Rivalries with other AIC schools whetted the competitive spirits of a great many of the student body, especially the freshmen.

By the middle part of the season feeling was running so high — at other schools as well as at Tech — that nightly visits were exchanged between Techsters and supporters of other schools. The chief results of these clashes were a large number of shaved heads on AIC campuses in different parts of the state.

The football team did its dead-level best to overcome the opposing teams. How close it came is shown by the identical 14-12 scores in losses to State Teachers and Henderson, the eventual conference co-champions.

The band, too, worked very hard during football season. It could be seen practicing in the late afternoons during the week. Often special rehearsals were held, sometimes on the weekends and sometimes at night during the week.

Tech's ROTC Drill Team became active about this time, marching at many of the high school football games at nearby places.

Captain B. L. Skelton of the ROTC department helps the cheerleaders stir spirits for the Homecoming game.

That Techsters feel strongly about football can be seen.

Homecoming royalty was presented at halftime of the game.

Bad Weather Mars Dad's Day Game

Despite cold weather a large crowd was on hand to see Tech trounce Ouachita in the annual Dad's Day game.

Victory Over Ouachita Is Consoling

Despite the coldness and a light drizzle, Dad's Day turned out to be one of the most successful occasions held at Tech this year. Over five-hundred parents showed up by the time festivities got under way.

An all-school assembly started things off. Both the band and choir performed a few numbers, and the modern dance group made a presentation.

James Argo, one of the captains of the football team, delivered the welcoming address to the parents, and his father responded on behalf of the moms and dads.

Before the game the ROTC company sponsors were presented by cadet officers. The drill team executed some precision marching exercises as part of the ceremonies.

The half-time show, done as a tribute to the parents, was one of the best of the season. The Dad's Day theme was carried out as MOM and DAD were spelled out in formations by the band.

To top everything off, the Wonder Boys came through with a 40-12 victory over Ouachita.

Parents were guests of the dining hall for both the noon and evening meals.

Diplomat James Webb, speaker at a Student Life Committee convocation, talks with some Tech students.

A dance held in the student center ballroom climaxed Sadie Hawkins Day.

Sadie Hawkins Day was highlighted by students sporting outstanding beards.

The twenty-two students selected for Who's Who received honor certificates from Dean Crabaugh.

Caraway Hall celebrated the approach of Christmas with their traditional party.

Numerous Events Mark End Of Year

The college honored Eddie Meador, former Little All-American from Tech who now plays for the L.A. Rams, by proclaiming an Eddie Meador Day.

Toward the middle and latter parts of the year, activities picked up a little bit around Tech.

A rash of parties marked the approach of the Christmas season. This was due partly to the very fact that it was Christmas and partly because most students realized that it would be the last chance for kicking up heels until after first semester tests.

During the second half of the year events piled up so fast that they are too numerous to mention here, though we did try to get pictures of most of them. Dances, celebrations — we had them all.

Things really began to roll with the approach of warm weather. This seemed to give everyone a real lift in spirits, a brighter outlook. An enthusiasm was manifested in sports such as track and baseball that had not been seen on campus for several months.

This was also the time of contests, Miss Arkansas Tech, Lady of the Apple Blossom, Best Dressed Woman, Esquire Queen, and many others.

Though there are several weeks of school left, it looks as if the 1959-1960 school year will go out with the big bang that is so typical of Arkansas Tech.

The Military Ball, held in March, climaxed a year of activities in the ROTC Department.

On Engineers' Day the agris and engineers met, for the first time, in a tug of war. The contest ended in a draw because the rope kept breaking at crucial moments.

The Esquire Dance was distinguished by Ralph Marterie and his Marlboro Men.

The Blue Key Varieties provide Techsters with some exciting and memorable entertainment.

The Bowery Ball would have been one of the best dances of the year but the rowdy element kept slipping in.

John Tucker presents J. P. Lovelady, captain of the Wonder Boy basketball team, the AIC championship trophy at the basketball team's post-season banquet.

Editor's Page

When this page is completed, the 1960 Argicola will finally be finished. The editor will be just about finished too.

At the time this book was being planned, I was green enough, and conceited enough, to think that it would take a whole page to say everything necessary. Probably at the first of the year some fantastic notion of going out in a blaze of glory by virtue of a brilliant burst of literary creativity existed in my mind. Or maybe I planned some notable farewell — you know, old sailors fade away. Fortunately, such notions, if they ever were, have been forgotten. Unfortunately, it leaves me little to say.

There are, however, several people who deserve some thanks from me, and (I say this sincerely) if I took the space to do it properly, it would take many more pages than this one.

First there is my roommate and sports editor, Jim Davis, who, besides doing the sports section, helped out with writing copy any time it was necessary.

Bob Edwards, editor of last year's Agricola, aided me with his advice as well as doing a great deal of the photography. His brother, Dave Edwards, also helped with pictures.

Robert Vann, school photographer first semester, covered the football games, but he was unable to be with us the second half of the year.

Rosemary Smee, Barbara Chenault, and Glenda Perry assisted me in getting through the class sections by the time they spent at the typewriters.

Ann Burrow did a great deal. She classified and alphabetized the class sections, identified pictures, typed, and would try to get done anything that needed doing.

The two who helped me at a most crucial moment — after the photographer left — are not even students of this school. They are Gerald Edgars and Leon Gershner. Mr. Edgars is the journalism instructor here, and Leon is a Tech alumnus of one year's standing. Between them they did the basketball games and many of the informal shots. Mr. Edgars managed to help me at any time, even with his other duties. I cannot begin to thank them.

The Hurley Company, which prints this book, has done a lot for me. As a matter of fact, Mr. Tom Walker, chairman of the yearbook division, planned a large part of this year's Agricola and got me started.

B. L. Harton, public relations officer and yearbook advisor, deserves some credit for having kept me working on this for so long.

As for me — I spent a large amount of time and effort on the 1960 Agricola. I hope you like it.
