An Apology

We, the Agricola Staff, submit this book to our friends for their approval or condemnation. We have tried to portray in this publication school life as it presents itself to us in all its various forms. We have not dwelt on the merits, courses or advantages that this school offers. In fact, we have tried to keep it away from the monotonous trend of a catalogue. We realize our incompetency to publish a book that this student body, faculty and school deserves, but we feel that we could have done much more and better work had it not been that our school year was cut short two weeks, due to the fact that we were not allowed the appropriation; and owing to the general depression throughout the commercial world. We ask our patrons to not judge harshly in our first attempt, but help us to feel that our work has not wholly been in vain.

The Editor.

INTRODUCTION.

It is now ten years since we, the graduating class of (1915), listened to our baccalaureate sermon and received our degrees. Many changes have taken place between then, and this, the Alumni banquet of (1925). In the gathering here, I recognize several faces as belonging to members of the (1915) class, though the greater per cent of the class is absent. The record I hereby present is as true to actual life as I can possibly make it.

Among the absent ones are Tobe, or "Mutt" Davis, and Ruby, or "Peanuts" McVay. Three years after graduating they were married by Rev. Edgar Reese. From all appearances they have been leading a prosperous and happy life, as they live in a twelve-room house, and every room is now occupied by members of their immediate family.

Everette Parker, too, is absent, though I have learned that he finally succeeded in getting married to the ideal of his dreams, a fat lady in a circus. You will no doubt be surprised when I tell you that she is none other than our well remembered classmate, Eunice Hamm.

Wayne Vickry is leading a very happy and prosperous life, having discovered a formula that has successfully solved the over-weight problem. With his winning ways and his unexcelled discovery, he succeeded in winning the heart of Lilly Johnson. They are at present touring the universe, demonstrating and selling the now famous "FAT ME NOT," price fifty cents (50) per bottle, every bottle guaranteed.

Gene Barfoot, alias "Nubby," is another who has reached the top of fame's ladder. He now resides in Kansas, and is known all over the State because of having raised more wild sunflowers and cockleburrs per acre, for the past five years, than any other man in the profession. He married shortly after graduating, and now listens with pleasure to the patter of little "bare feet" romping over the small nursery that contains eight little beds.

Imo Davis is now the canning club agent in her native county. She always had a desire to become a leader in woman suffrage, but her love for the country caused her to give up the idea, and so she is giving the girls of Perry County the benefit of the knowledge she gained at the S. D. A.

Charles Delaney, after graduating from several of our best universities, secured a position as a sign painter and window decorator. After a few years of this work, he secured a position as auctioneer for a cuttery company. This strenuous work ruined his voice, and he now is at the head of the department of elocution in one of the leading correspondence schools.

You will all be delighted to learn that Robbie Rodgers, after receiving a degree from Vassar College, where she specialized in expression, went on the stage, where she has attained fame. The remarkable talent which she first displayed at S. D. A. is proof enough to us that her success is well deserved. It is useless to add that her success in life has not changed her, as she is the same old "Robbie."

Norvin Jackson and Roscoe Clark are partners in a very prosperous business, and are operating some of the largest dairies in Arkansas. Their motto is, "NO WEDDING BELLS FOR ME."

Norma Adcock, after graduating, took two years in domestic science at Manhattan. Since then she has been engaged in teaching in the Branch High School.

Murl Cox and Max Skelton joined the regular army, and were doing well until two years ago, when Murl, then an officer, was court-martialed for giving the command, "Stack Arms, Stack!" and was hung. Max, who had risen to the rank of captain, eloped with the colonel's wife, and has never been heard of since.

Sallie Rankin is now a divorcee.

You will all be surprised to learn that Elizabeth Reed and Effie Collier are now, and have been for years, playing leading parts in that popular song hit and dance, entitled, "The Yum Yum Girls." They are now touring the United States on the Majestic Circuit.

Sherrill Cassell is now engaged in the hotel business at Ozark. It may be of interest to some to know that he owns the Bristoe Hotel.

Charles Roy, after rightfully acquiring the name of "Matty, the Second," because of his remarkable success as first string twirler of the New York Giants, has now succeeded the renowned McGraw as manager of the team on which he won his spurs.

Miss Ida Koone and Miss Myrtle Wier are engaged in a very prosperous millinery business in New York City. Their establishment is well known all over the United States.

We regret to note that, after joining the "Holy Roller Church," our esteemed friend, Mr. Vandiver, suffered a mental collapse brought on by the great nervous strain, which is characteristic of this form of religion. He is now in a sanitarium for the demented.

We take pleasure in noting that Frances Porter reformed from robbing cradles, and three years after graduating married a full grown man, who was none other than our old friend Professor (?) T. A. Greene. They are now living happily in a cabin among the foothills of the Boston Mountains, and have an immense orchard covering very near three acres of land.

Roy Shinn has become a very successful veterinary surgeon, and is now in the employ of the Government. He is located in Washington, D. C., where his wife, who was known to us as Grace Porter, is well known in the city's most select social set.

It will grieve you all to learn that our old classmate, Clyde Mears, is no longer known by his name, but as number (909), State penitentiary. He was sentenced to thirteen years' imprisonment for stealing an old white hen from Professor Holtzclaw, and twenty dollars from Mrs. Howard.

Tubby Rice, shortly after graduating went to Colorado and went into duck raising as a life's work. The lack of water and the scarcity of grasshoppers caused the downfall of his adventure, also the monotony of the work caused him to lose his mind. He started back to Arkansas about June, 1920, driving a large drove of ducks, but was captured while crossing Kansas and confined in a sanitarium for the insane.

Sadie Haynes followed the Aggie motto, "GET MARRIED THE FIRST CHANCE YOU GET," and is now Mrs. Foy Hammonds of Little Rock. She is well known in all suffragette organizations, and spends half of her time carrying a "Votes for Women" banner.

Gertrude Guess married in June, 1919. She married our esteemed friend, Professor Holtzclaw's father's cousin's nephew's oldest boy by his second wife, who died with the foot and mouth disease. The disease was inherited by the son, and Gertrude is now a widow, living on her husband's insurance.

You all will remember "Jimmie" F. Widener as the sweetest singer in the class. Much to our surprise he failed to make good in life, and may be seen almost any time haunting the theatres of New York in search of a job. He ruined his voice smoking cigarettes.

After trying for several years to get married, Eschol Partin adopted an old black cat, and became reconciled to her fate. She now does her hair in a hard knot on the back of her head, and says "Boo" every time she sees a man.

Pearl Carmical, after graduation, took up canning club work and was succeeding nicely until she became infatuated with a Singer Sewing Machine agent and eloped with him one stormy night, never to be heard of since, although there is a reward of $50 offered to any one giving information as to their whereabouts.

Wilson Alsobrook, as many of you know, is now a member of Congress. There is some question as to how he ever attained such a prominent place, though the general opinion is that he entered the Congressional Hall as page, and worked his way up.

Esther Collier, having finished a course in domestic art at Ames, Iowa, was selected as head of the domestic art department of old S. D. A., and still holds that position, having long since decided that being head of a domestic art department is a more remunerative position than being mistress over the average Arkansas farmer's home.

Mary Dickey and Hazel Young are matrons over an orphans' home in St. Louis.

George Weiterer has taken up his favorite work of chemistry. Six years ago he built a chemical laboratory in Baltimore. He has devoted his entire time for the past five years trying to discover an odorless bed bug destroyer.

As for myself, "I am what I am," and I give each of you the privilege of forming an opinion of your own.

(Signed) Kenneth W. Bonham. Forrest Widener, Asst.

The Science Department

This department was established as such two years ago, with the purpose in view of giving instruction along practical lines in physics, chemistry, bacteriology, and related sciences, and also of doing such analyses of soils, fertilizers, etc., as time and equipment would permit.

An effort has been made to equip a laboratory of moderate size, with such apparatus, chemicals, etc., as would permit of individual experimental work by the student.

Up to the present time no great amount of analytical work has been done for want of sufficient equipment and laboratory force, but it is believed that the work of the department has been worth while, from the standpoint of inculcating into the mind of the student the fundamental principles of the above mentioned sciences, in their relation to agriculture.—N. J. '15.

MECHANICS.

The constantly increasing demand for agricultural products by all advancing nations has made it essential for the producers to use means whereby a maximum of superior quality of yield may be produced at a minimum expenditure of time and labor.

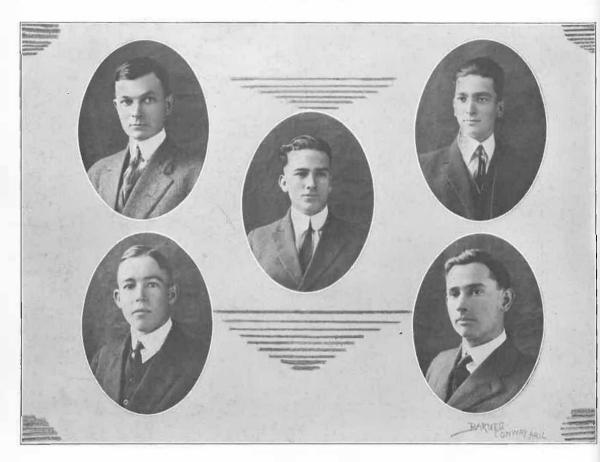

In all cases where the agriculturist does not use proper implements, or uses them to a disadvantage, he will find it utterly impossible to either compete or co-operate with his fellow-producers who are using them economically under modern methods and systems.

Obvious of this fact, the Second District Agricultural College offers a course in mechanics, under the supervision of skilled instructors. This department is divided into the woodwork department, and the department of forging. In the woodwork department the students are taught to properly care for shop tools while training themselves to the dexterous use of them. In the department of forging, they are trained to become skilled in the art of welding, shaping and tempering of materials.

It is not to be advocated that every farmer should be able to shoe his own horses, for reason that he can have the work done more economically by an efficient workman than he can become sufficiently skilled in the art himself. But it is essential that he be competent to select and operate implements that are necessary for the proper tillage of the soil, for the harvesting of crops, and for the fitting of the various products for the market or most satisfactory use; with this he should also be capable of preventing delay or deficiency, due to breakage, by adding necessary repairs, for which purpose a complete equipment should be installed on every farm.—G. W. '15.

The Periclean Literary Society is composed of young men only. It isn't as old a society as the Garland, but it has proved to be a good one.

Debates have taken place nearly every Friday night, and occasionally a kangaroo court has been held. There has been great interest taken in the meetings, and we consider this term's work the most successful in the history of the society.

This literary society is the oldest in the school.

It was organized during the first year of school, by only a few, but has now grown to be a large society. It is composed of both sexes. In this society each member is given a chance to take part along different lines of work, such as readings, declamation, debating and music.

Motto: Do the duty that lies nearest thee.

Domestic science is the oldest art of womankind, and yet one of the newest. It has only recently been added to the school course. No girl is fitted for the highest and holiest profession of life, that of home building, until she has had training. Not simply the experience received as a daughter of the family, but she should know something of the value of food, its preparation and use in the body. Nearly every vocation in life calls for different diet. She should know how to meet each.

A girl can not be a successful home maker until she can bravely meet any accident that comes within her range. Meet it with a cool, clear mind, and competent, practical and gentle hand.

There is no girl but that expects, some time in life, to have a home and children. She must know something of the general duties of a home and care of children. Woman's sphere is broadening, but always have in mind of a home to any occupation. To man a home is a heaven on earth.

The Y. M. C. A. is now on its second year's work. Although our meetings have not been held with the highest degree of success, we do not feel that our labors have been in vain.

Last summer our President attended the Southwest Student Conference at Monte Ne, and in November five of our men attended the State Conference at Conway.

Mr. Legate, the Southwest student secretary, has been in our midst to instruct us, and give us encouragement in the work.

We are now planning on sending our new President to Blue Ridge, N. C., to the conference, and hope for a still better Y. M. C. A. next year.

Our Y. W. C. A. is steadily growing. We are still in swaddling clothes, having organized our association the latter part of last year (1914). Our field secretary, Miss Sherrebeck, came to our assistance last year and helped us organize. With few members and a meager knowledge of what the Y. W. C. A. could do, we did not accomplish much except one thing, and that was creating an interest and desire in the hearts of the girls to make the Y. W. C. A. of 1914-15 fulfill its mission.

This year we all came back anxious to do our parts. Miss Sherrebeck came to us again and helped us reorganize and become affiliated or a part of the National Association. In March we sent three delegates to the Y. W. C. A. Convention at Little Rock. Now nearly all the girls in the dormitory are members of the Y. W. C. A. and are taking an active part in the work.

Music Department

THE MUSIC CLASS.

Miss Verda Hughes, Head of Music Department.

Miss Marie Gladden, Assistant.

"Music washes away from the soul the dust of every-day life."

The music teachers of this school are paid by the State, thus making it possible for every desirous student to take either voice or pianoforte, entirely free of charge. Perhaps no other department is more closely affiliated with all phases of school work and student life than the Department of Music. Miss Hughes and Miss Gladden are to be highly praised for the good work they have accomplished this year in the Music Department.

The Orchestra

The orchestra is one of the most useful and one of the most enjoyed organizations in the school. By hard work and faithfulness, both on the part of the Supervisor, Mr. Marvin Williamson, and each member, the orchestra has grown into something worth while. This organization deserves much credit for the willingness that it has shown at all times to entertain the school with good musical selections.

Locals

April 10.- "Snitchie" Sophomore entertained the Faculty, Juniors and Freshmen. Every one said it was swell, but how do the Seniors know? We know this much about it—Miss Duff Covington and Annie Lindsey were the leading ladies.

Mr. Green, to Barfoot in Horticulture: "How do you spray fruit trees?" Barfoot: "Spray with Paris Green."

Wonder why the boys thought Ethel was engaged?

You may drink to health of the girls (or the boys),

It's always the girls (as a rule); You may drink to the peace of the world and its joys,

But here's to the last days of school.

February 13.—The Misses Hamm entertained the Faculty with a valentine reception. Games were played, and delicious refreshments were served. Every one reported a grand time, and declared to their hostesses that the affair was the swellest of the season.

February 6.-Miss Failor entertained the Senior girls with a slumber party in the attic. After supper she took them to the basket ball game between Hendrix and Aggies. From there she took them to the show, then back to the Dormitory, where delicious eats were awaiting them. Games were played and every girl told a funny little tale, and retired to dream of the joyous time they had, and the Junior girls are hoping Miss Failor will be back again next year.

April 10.-Seniors slipped off from matrons and went on a hike to Mill Creek. Had a "good" supper out of Mill Creek's store, came back on the slicker that night at eight: from there to the show, then to the Dorm to find every one wide awake expecting us. Every one had a good time.

Tokes

Gertrude-Is Patilla fast or slow, Sadie? Sadie-I don't know; he wasn't fast when he went with me.

Gertrude-O, crazy; I mean the watch.

Mary Bullock in Physiology Class one morning:

Miss Dollie-Mary, where are the brains? Mary-I don't know, Miss Dollie; in the abdominal cavity, though, I think.

If you care to know how much "oogling" was done on that "dam chemistry hike" go to Miss Mary Failor.

LOST-by Mr. Davis, one garter-snake.

Prof. Sibley to Hillie-You have an appetite like a horse for peanuts.

Hillie-Tom gave me these peanuts. (Wonder where Tom got them.)

Ask Mr Green how he likes the windowshade in Room 5 of new Dorm for a "movie screen." Be a little more careful next time. Miss Failor, and remember that shades are transparent.

"Eula," said Miss Hamm, "what is your greatest ambition?"

Eula studied a moment, and then replied: "I think—it is to wash Miss Dickey's ears."

Mr. Shinn (growing rather excited in Geometry Class): "Order, please! Let's 'cuss' this one on the board."

Ask Miss Newman if she ever found out why the lights were turned off while Miss Dickey was in Morrilton. The attic wasn't lonesome, if the lights were off.

We all wonder why the table where Walter and Hillie eat has chicken so often. (Ask the Sheriff.)

Ask Glen Wakefield what Mr. Hamm said to him on the night of April 17th.

For lessons in "hugging," see Miss Dollie Newman.

Nelle to Imo-How old were you, Imo, when you were operated on?

Imo-I have never had an operation; what put that in your head?

Nelle-I heard it; and, too, I thought you surely must have, you are so nervous-even when walking.

Ask Miss Elsie what she saw on the "dam chemistry hike," as she went to hide her sandwiches.

Ask Chas. Roy to give an explanation of "Zip, I got it!"

April 2.-D. S. Club entertains with a hike. Every one reports to good time, but the matrons, the grass was too high for them to enjoy themselves.

LOST-A bar of soap. Finder will please return to Ruby McVay and receive liberal reward.

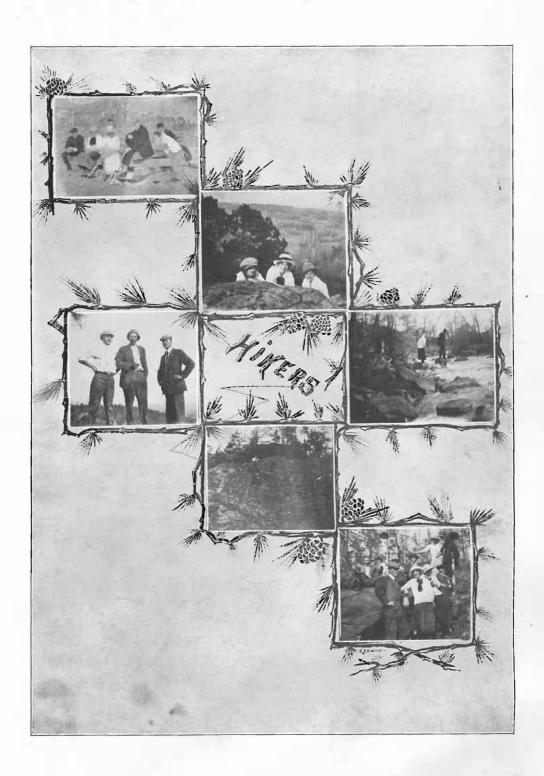

Finder, Miss Stella Dickey, rewarded a can of Dutch cleanser instead.

Latest song hit-"Aggie Blues"-composed by Forrest Widener and Chink Coler.

Miss Hughes to Tobe-"So many men marry for money, but you wouldn't marry me for money, would you, Tobe?
"No," said Tobe, absently, "I wouldn't marry you for all the money in the world."

Mr. Davis, to Sherrill in Chemistry class-How is air measured? Sherrill-By a thermometer.
