AGRICOLA

Dedication

W. O. YOUNG

Our beloved Secretary, who has so faithfully and wisely guided the destiny of our school during this year. We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Twenty-Four, affectionately dedicate this volume.

AGRICOLA

Our Class.

The bugle sounds the knell of parting day;
The echo seems a death bell to our ear.
The class of '24 their last good-bye must say
And homeward turn and leave each friend so dear.

Now fades the glimmering landscape on our sight
And all the earth a solemn stillness holds,
Save, the ticking of the parlor clock
As the curtain of night around us folds.

The soothing call of incense breathing morn,
The twittering birds or the sun so red;
The whistle blowing, or the bugle call,
No more shall rouse us from our cozy bed.

But, like the harvest, we to the sickle yield
And leave the field where we have trod.
We hope to have gained the higher things
That lead to glory and to God.

—CLARA MIKEL.

Our Colors

Y is for years we have stayed here;
We hope they have not been in vain.
E's for an Education we came to get,
Though we have much more to gain.
L is for Love borne for the school;
Love that will stay just the same.
L's for Luck, the thing one must have
If for long he intends to remain.
O is for Ornament, and we truly hope;
This thing from us you'll debar.
W's for What, yes we hope to be,
Just what you think we are.

AND

W's for White—feather never displayed,
By this plucky class all these years.
H is for Hours spent on our books;
A few which have cost us some tears.
I's for Initiative stamped on our class;
If we're needed we'll not idly stand.
T is for Truth we hope to have told;
But for four years it would be grand.
E's for Eternity, a long time and some more;
Meaning separation to the Class of '24.

—CLARA MIKEL.

Our Flower

Yellow jonquils seem to be
April's gift to you and me.
The earliest ornaments of spring
Teach us how to laugh and sing;
Coming when the flowers dare
Trust the cruel, chilly air;
When the sun flower so bold,
Dares not don his coat of gold,
And the sturdy, hawthorn spray,
Dares not open until May.
Yellow jonquils sent to teach us
That the spring days soon will reach us.
Long before a leaf of green
On the boughs can be seen—
Ah! when winter winds are singing,
And the Easter bells are ringing
Then our secrets we will tell,
Yellow Jonquils we greet thee well!

—F.A.L.—B.L.

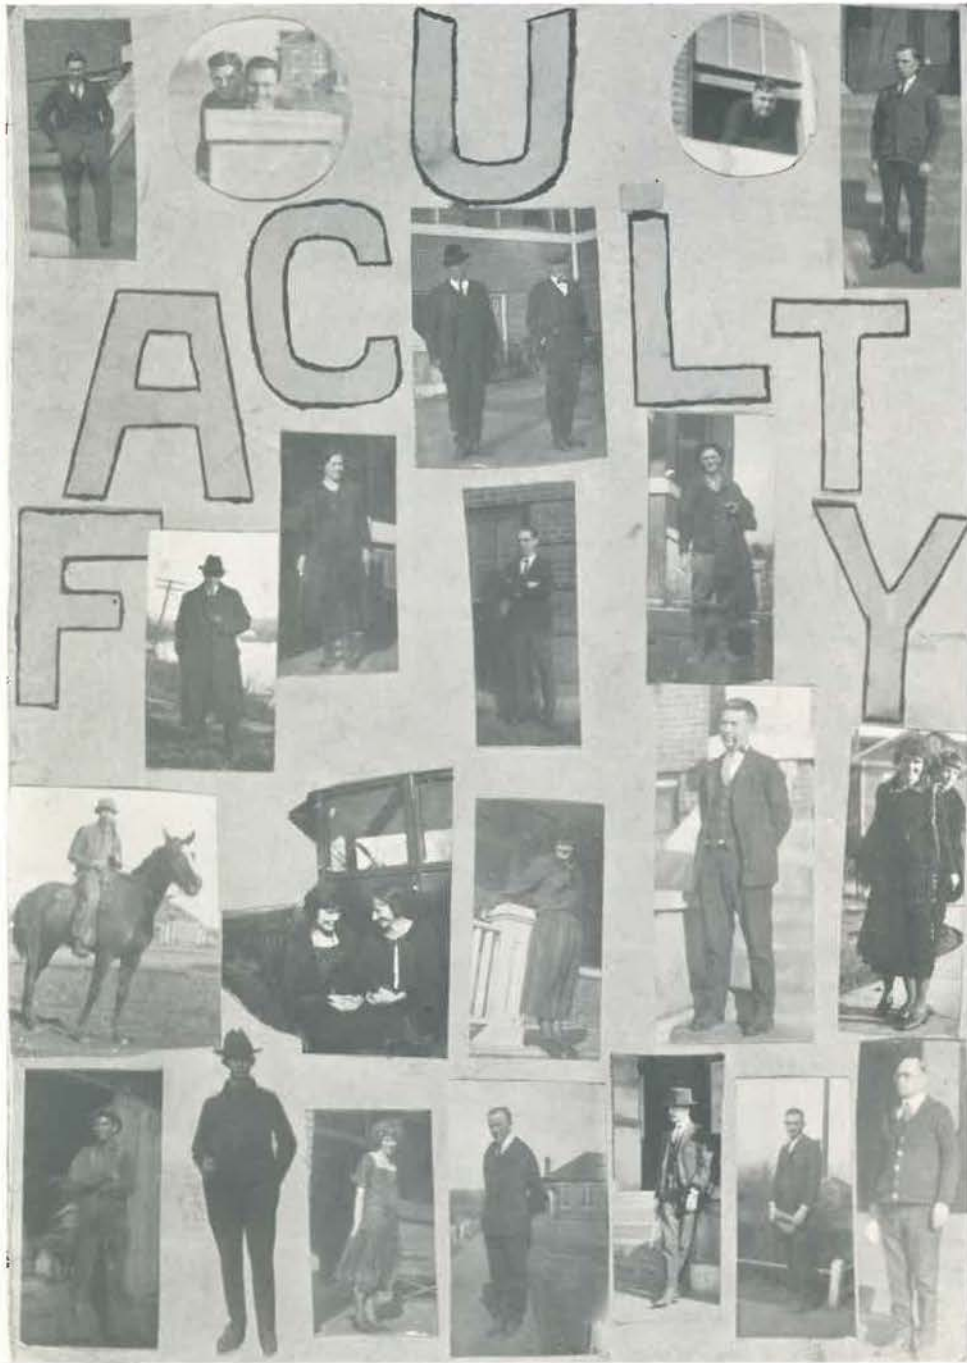

A decorative border in a golden-yellow color frames the page. At the top, a banner with the word "AGRICOLA" in capital letters is draped across a landscape illustration featuring palm trees and a field. The sides and bottom of the border are composed of a braided, leafy wreath.

AGRICOLA

Foreword

On these pages which are to follow we have collected those bits of school life which we hope you will recall in after years with much pleasure and delight. Our purpose is to keep ever bright that spark of love for your Alma Mater, which burns in the heart of every true "Aggie."

Seniors

AGRICOLA

HAYS McCLANAHAN, President
Havana, Ark.

Hays was one of our most popular young men, and was always willing and ready to do his part.

"Ne'er shall the sun shine on such another."

PAT HAMM, Vice-President
Bass, Ark.

Pat is an excellent student and an all-around athlete. In the four years of his High School training he has made use of the part that diligence is the stepping stone to success.

LUCILE HOGINS, Secretary
Russellville, Ark.

Quiet, gentle and smiling always. Lucile is one of the highest standing students in school.

AGRICOLA

SAM (Stony) WHITE

Stafford, Ark.

"Stony" is little in size, but a giant in action. He is always there to do his part. Stony loves eggs ? ? ?

HERMOYNE BONDI

Dardanelle, Ark.

Bond says she wouldn't take a million dollars for her trip to New York. Not the wonderful sights but the good luck that came to her—especially after returning home.

NORENE JUSTICE

Fayetteville, Ark.

Norene intended to see Paris, (Ark.) but finally moved to Fayetteville.

LUCILE (Cele) ROYS

Russellville, Ark.

Lucile excels in Home Economics. She makes good wherever she goes.

ALEXANDER (Pete) BAKER

Pine Bluff, Ark.

Motto: "Smile d—you, smile." Pete's hobby is playing the piano for the young ladies.

AGRICOLA

IRIS JOHNSON
(Rusty Runt)

Iris is little but loud, especially in Physics Lab (?). Wonder why she is always so glad when Wednesday comes?

THOMAS (Tommy) TODD
Memphis, Tenn.

Tommy is the Comedian at "Aggie." To see Tommy "flirting" reminds us of a "flirtation" in an old folks' home.

ROGERS GRAY
Scranton, Ark.

"Sturdy as an elephant and swift as a deer."

CLARA MIKEL
Jenny Lind, Ark.

Clara is a lover of athletics but I rather think she loves athletes better—the curly-headed blonds.

JOE BISHOP
Clinton, Ark.

Joe is a good student; peppy and always on the hop. Joe is an orator and a Physics "shark" by birth.

AGRICOLA

EUELL (Shorty) LONG

Little Rock, Ark.

He is an all-around student and possesses many fine musical talents.

LORRAINE SHOPTAW

Dover, Ark.

"Tis better to have loved and lost than to marry and be bossed."

Girls take her advice. She knows.

GEORGE E. TANNER

Quitman, Ark.

G. E. is a Physics "shark." He is an A-1 student anywhere you put him.

HUGH (Specks) BUZBEE

Delaware, Ark.

"Oh, handsome but elusive man! How can I capture thee?"

We are sure "Specks" will be a success at whatever he attempts to do.

OKLA DOLLAR

Russellville, Ark.

Okla is very popular, especially with the young men. Those killing smiles and graceful steps would attract the attention of any man.

AGRICOLA

LOYD MILLARD
Walnut Tree, Ark.

Loyd was an excellent student. "A heart of gold, a lad of life, an imp of fame."

DRUCILLA WEIR
Russellville, Ark.

Drucilla has made a splendid student. This is her first year at "Aggie."

MAYO REED
Bigelow, Ark.

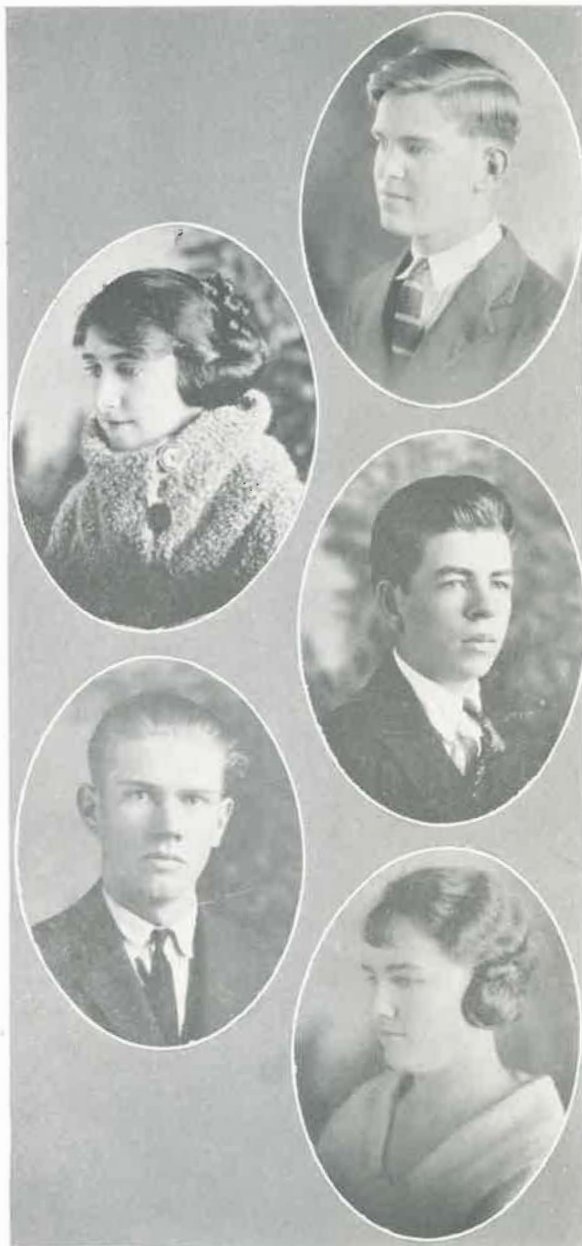

"Through the ages one increasing purpose runs, and the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the sun."

HAROLD SPICER
Scranton, Ark.

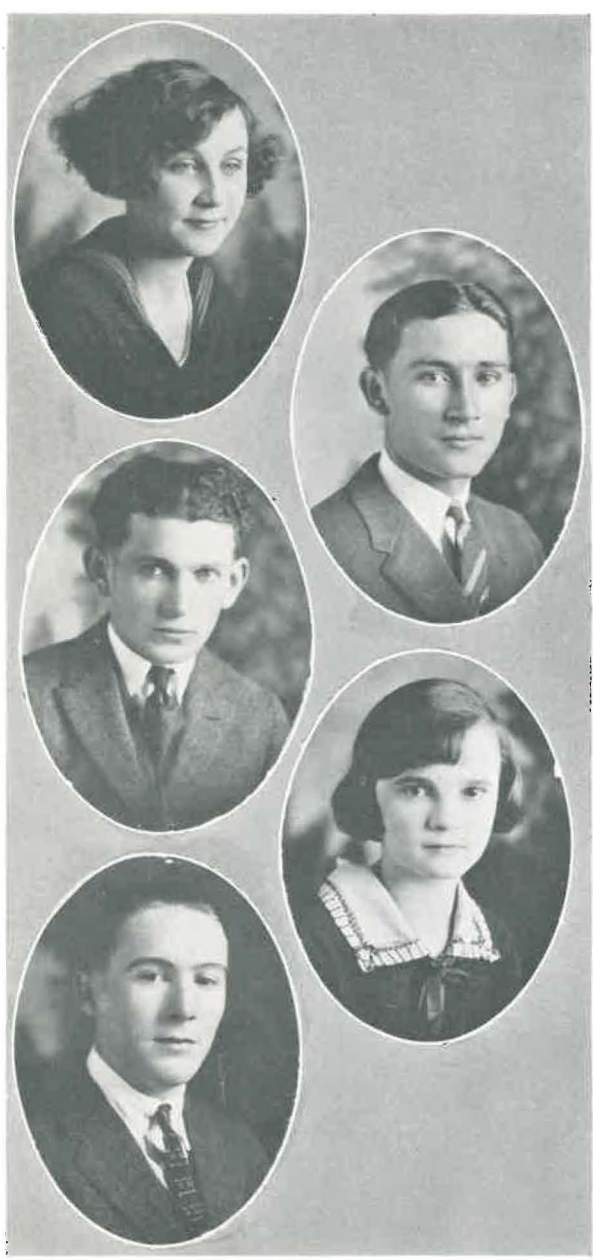

Harold is a real "sport" and always ready to do his part in all the school activities.

VELMA McNEAL
Nimrod, Ark.

"If worry were the cause of death then she would live forever."

AGRICOLA

RUTH (Rufus) EMMONS
Scotland, Ark.

"Well-timed silence has more excellence than speech."

DOUGLAS HILL
Charleston, Ark.

Doug seems to delight in captivating the girls just for the pleasure of skillfully eluding all their snares designed for his capture.

JOSH BAKER
Cave Creek, Ark.

Josh is energetic and industrious. He isn't afraid to tackle anything. Josh makes good in all his class room work.

EUNICE McKENZIE
Centerville, Ark.

"None knew thee but to love thee."

MARION DICKENS
Bigelow, Ark.

"Not today is to justify me and answer what I am for."

AGRICOLA

BUNYON (Bun) SANDS

Charleston, Ark.

Bun is one of the best students "Aggie" ever had and we hope he will be with us again next year.

MARY VANCE

Russellville, Ark.

"Verily I save unto you there is not a Class Historian living who can find out who my best (?) friend is."

Patience is necessary, ingredients of genius.

KENNETH KETCHESIDE

(Choate)

Knoxville, Ark.

Oh! Those pretty blushes and killing smiles. One of the "hobbies" to New York and even went to Dardanelle.

MAY SULLIVANT

Russellville, Ark.

"She looketh well to the ways of her household and eateth not the bread of idleness."

ROY McNEAL

Nimrod, Ark.

Roy has been with us for several years and has many friends at "Aggie."

AGRICOLA

MARGARET PUTMAN
Winslow, Ark.

Margaret is one of the most popular girls in her class. Her musical talents and soft brown eyes won for her many friends.

MURREL EIKLEBERRY
Havana, Ark.

"He that tooteth not his own horn, the same shall not be tooted."

BUNYON (Doc) WEBB
Russellville, Ark.

Bun is a silver-tongued and whirl-wind orator of much ability. His gentle and kind disposition has won for him many friends. 600 West Main Street ???

BONNIE DANLEY
Russellville, Ark.

"Pretty to walk with,
Witty to talk with,
And pleasant to think on."

GARLAND (Eli) RUSSELL
Russellville, Ark.

"And still the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew."
Garland's future is bright.

Class History.

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1923-24, firmly believe that our four-years stay at Aggie has been a success. Our success has been due mostly to the members of the faculty, who have guided our footsteps along the straight and narrow path and helped us to mount the ladder that leads toward success. We wish, at this time, to express our many thanks and appreciation for the kind deeds they have rendered us.

Because of the lack of space I shall not attempt to give the record of each individual, except in a general way.

Let us refer, at this time, to our Class President, Hayes McClanahan, who hailed to us from Cedar Creek, Arkansas, in 1920. He has been an active member of our class throughout his four years stay at Aggie. He is very energetic and intends to stay at Aggie until he finishes College.

Pat Hamm, our Editor-in-Chief, came to us from Newton county, in 1920. Pat is very industrious and is always willing to lend a helping hand.

Nothing would be complete without our friend, Joe Bishop, the Business Manager. He came to us from Clinton, Ark., in 1921. Joe is a friend to everyone, especially to the fair sex. Without Joe Miss Norris would always have a dirty car. He puts forth his best efforts at all times for the upbuilding of our class and school.

Lucile handles the money and keeps the reports for the Senior Class. She is a persistent worker and always has a smile for everyone. Some day she intends to handle "Doc's" money.

Among other distinguished members of our Freshman class were: Hugh Buzbee, G. E. Cheatham, Bonnie Danley, Ewell Long, Velma McNeal, Clara Mikel, Lucile Roys, Garland Russell, Harold Spicer, Bunyon Webb and Sam White.

All moved in good fashion from the first year and when the last bell sounded at the end of the session, found us hitting 'em hard. At the end of school some of the students remained at Aggie for vacation, the others departed for Home Sweet Home.

When we returned to school in 1921 we felt of very great importance for we had reached our Sophomore year (Wise Fools.) After we had registered, we gathered in front of the Administration building to meet the new students who had come to Aggie for the betterment of themselves. Among this crowd we found Josh Baker, Hermoyne Bondi, Okla Dollar, Ruth Emmons, Rogers Gray, Iris Johnson, Eunice McKenzie, Thomas Todd and Merrill Eikleberry. By hard work and keeping always on the job we passed all of our subjects and were ready for our Junior year.

Our Junior year was one of hard knocks and by the skin of our teeth we relieved Mr. Casey from teaching us any more English. This year we were glad to see the smiling countenances of Marion Dickens, Douglas Hill, J. T. Hodges, Lloyd Millard, Mayo Reed, May Sullivant and Margaret Putman.

When the Senior roll was called in the fall of 1923 we found that three new members had come to join our happy circle, namely: Alexander Baker, G. E. Tanner, and Drucilla Weir. The staff for the Annual was elected and at once began working on the "Agricola."

Class Prophecy.

Early last fall I was told that I was to write our Class Prophecy. Since I was not a prophet nor the son of a prophet I immediately began to see what information could be obtained about the future of our class-mates.

Success is the reward for faithful and continued efforts. So I thought there must be some place where information could be got concerning the future. I spent days searching all literature available touching on prophecies of the future. First I looked into the ability of the Arabian Astrologers to foretell the future of our classmates. I also looked into the Greek Mythology and read long and carefully concerning the Delphian Oracle. Roman books with reference to the Siniline Mysteries and all other Roman literature that I could find were searched. Stories of Thor and the other gods of the Northmen were studied carefully. Modern fortune tellers were consulted. Yet none of these was able to give me any specific knowledge relating to the future of our classmates.

Later a number of my friends invited me to go to the Diamond Cave in the heart of the Ozark Mountains. The greater part of the cave has been explored by hundreds but there are many crevices that lead to unknown places which so far as we know no human eye has seen.

When we started through I was given a lantern to carry. A gust of wind extinguished my light and when I finished relighting it, as I was one of the last ones, the others were nowhere in sight. On proceeding I saw a glimmer. At this point there seemed to be two openings but I decided to follow the glimmer which I thought to be the light of the company. When I had advanced a short distance the light was reflected from what seemed to be the end of an enclosed cavern.

A few steps farther I could see more clearly that the light was coming from a fire, over which was a small cauldron; on a tall thin column of iron stood a rude lamp; many rows of herbs and weeds hung from the walls as if to dry; what seemed to be a fox crouched before the fire and gazed upon me with its bright red eyes as if to prevent my approach; in the center of the cave was a singular and fantastic earthen statue which had three heads—one was formed by the skull of a dog; one by the skull of a horse, and one by the skull of a boar.

But it was not these furnishings of the cavern that chilled my blood—it was the visage of another inmate. Before the fire with the light shining full on her face sat a woman of considerable age. She was not one of the specimens of the extreme human ugliness; on the contrary her countenance betrayed the remains of a regular order of feature; with stony eye turned on me—with a look that met and fascinated mine. I beheld in that countenance the very image of a corpse; the same glazed and lustreless regard, the blue and shrunken lips, the drawn and hollow jaws, the dead lank hair of a pale grey, the livid green, ghastly skin—which seemed all surely tinged and tainted by the grave.

I thought surely the thing was dead but it said to me, "Who are ye and what do ye here?"

AGRICOLA

I then, after my fright subsided, remembered a mention of the Witch of the Ozarks in some of the Mythical literature I had been reading.

"I have lost my way, but will you be so kind as to tell me if you have seen any of my party? And in whose presence do I find myself?"

"I am the Witch of the Ozarks, and I have come here to aid you in the problem you have been considering for some time. Give me the names one by one and I will see what I can do.

She took herbs from the wall and put them in the cauldron. A cloud immediately issued.

"As you call the names I will cause an image of the person and his future to appear in the smoke."

"HAYS McCLANAHAN"

I immediately saw the governor delivering an address to the legislature.

"MARGARET PUTMAN"

Giving a wonderful performance in an opera as a ballet dancer.

"THOMAS TODD"

I saw a man bending over some papers drawing cartoons.

"PAT HAMM"

A man with a Y. M. C. A. badge on his arm appeared, giving out food to the Armenians.

"VELMA McNEAL"

A woman was holding chapel in a boarding school. The girls had objected to wearing cotton stockings so she was reproofing them.

"EUEL LONG"

The director of a band in the Navy came to view.

"HERMOYNE BONDI"

A woman was haggling over the price of a very old vase. She had one of the most valuable collections in the state.

"JOE BISHOP"

A preacher in a large city was delivering his Sunday morning sermon. He had more converts than any other evangelist in the city.

"G. E. TANNER"

A County Agent was instructing some farmers in terracing.

"RUTH EMMONS"

I saw a trial in progress. A woman was defending a man for bootlegging.

"JOSH BAKER"

At first all to be seen was some machinery. Then a man, whom I supposed to be Josh, became visible directing some repairs.

"LUCILE HOGINS"

A young woman was holding a large audience spell-bound with her violin.

"G. E. CHEATHAM"

The same old figure was still running the Aggie joint.

"BONNIE DANLEY"

A woman attractively dressed was instructing some ladies in the art of adorning themselves.

AGRICOLA

"ALEXANDER BAKER"

A tall man was leading the most popular jazz orchestra in Little Rock.

"LORRAINE SHOPTAW"

A housewife was telling her son of ten to please not throw rocks at the neighbors' windows; her daughter of six to take that candy away from the baby; her son of twelve to wake up and quit moaning about that curly-haired girl that lived in the next block.

Here the old witch seemed to falter. The cloud of smoke disappeared. She scowled and muttered, "I will have to do something to bring back the spirits aiding me."

So she executed a wild dance. A haze filled all the space, snakes appeared and the fox moved around uneasily. As she danced about the pot she threw in many strange things. Soon a seething, burning mixture was in the cauldron. A cloud came out and she told me to proceed.

"SAM WHITE"

I saw a football game in progress and the noted coach watching the game intently.

"HAROLD SPICER"

A ranch with a number of fine horses next became visible with a man standing at the side gazing on them with pride.

"MARY VANCE"

A familiar Domestic Science room next became recognizable. Presiding at the desk was my schoolmate, Mary.

"LOYD MILLARD"

The next scene showed a physician.

"EUNICE MCKENZIE"

Aiding this doctor was a nurse that reminded me of Eunice.

"MAYO REED"

A large factory was being overseen by one of my classmates. I did not know what they were making but soon I saw it was alarm clocks.

"CLARA MIKEL"

A poetess now came to view. She was writing of love.

"MURREL EIKELBERRY"

A scientist was working with a solution as red as his hair.

"HUGH BUZBEE"

A cotton buyer was very busy sampling cotton.

"OKLA DOLLAR"

A prima donna was giving one of her most successful solos.

"ROY McNEAL"

A traveling salesman was having the door slammed in his face for the seventh time.

"GARLAND RUSSELL"

The Dairy specialist of Arkansas appeared and made a bow.

"DRUCILLA WEIR"

A Home Demonstration Agent was showing some club girls how to can beans.

AGRICOLA

"IRIS JOHNSON"

Giving a lecture on women's rights was one of the most prominent business women of Pittsburg.

"DOUGLASS HILL"

Driving to his home was a prosperous farmer noted for his excellent methods of control for the boll weevil.

"BUNYON WEBB"

The most noted orator of the day was presenting his views to Congress.

"LUCILE ROYS"

A Missionary was bending over a sick patient in the mission fields of Eastern Asia.

"MARION DICKENS"

A bill board filled the space next. It was announcing the appearance of the most daring circus rider living.

"KENNETH KETCHERSIDE"

The assistant cashier of the Dardanelle bank was considered the most prosperous business man in town. He gave his views on "How to Manage a Wife."

"BUNYON SANDS"

An absent-minded Professor of Entomology walked past with his tie hanging down his back, his shoes unlaced, his hair standing straight up, and was chasing bugs.

"ELIZABETH NEWMAN"

She was private secretary of the great scientist, Murrel Eickleberry.

Last of all I saw myself solving problems in electric city trying to make the work of the farm wife easier.

I thanked the old woman very much and after she had shown me the way to my companions, I departed, feeling very grateful for the knowledge I had gained.

—M. S.

Class Will.

In the name of Spark-Plug, Rudy and Barney Google, we, the cross-country class of 1924, hereby bequeath and convey all of our worldly knowledge and possessions, being perfectly free of the heebie-jeebies, and sound in mind, we dispose these thereof in the manner following, to-wit:

First: We leave, give, convey and bequeath without hesitation, to the unfortunate Juniors our beautifully painted and decorated edifice of learning, with all of its appendages such as swinging doors, bay windows, squeaky chairs and basements which provide a means of escape for the "three o'clock in the morning" night owls.

Second: Again we leave to those Juniors who are contemplating entering the toils of Beethoven, the use of a very efficient wireless telegraph machine, used by Miss Norris, consisting of one hard pencil and an oak table. Being a very good instrument it works at the slightest disturbance in the immediate vicinity.

AGRICOLA

Third: To all of our successors we will some of the worst habits of the faculty, such as enforcing segregation of sexes, giving exams, advice, sitting on the Seniors, procrastination and bad penmanship, laziness and not getting married.

Fourth: We also convey to our impotent successors (the Juniors especially) a few pointers on how to work the faculty. They are: Work Yourself, let them work you, blow their special department, laugh at their jokes, be silent, feed them taffy, avoid any discomfort during lectures.

Fifth: The "Senior Privileges" go to next year's Seniors with a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year attached to it.

Sixth: To the Freshman girls, we reluctantly give those yellow middy suits used extensively by the girls of '24, to have and to hold on the condition that they preserve and use them every football season.

Seventh: With the consent of the owner which was obtained after prolonged debate, we give, devise, bequeath and convey to anyone expecting to enter that August assembly, called for want of a better name, "Coach Brown's fourth hour history class," the tremendous power of Jos Bishop in argumentation, and other subjects too numerous to mention.

Eighth: There are a few personal belongings which members of our rank leave to those less fortunate than themselves.

Josh Baker, with the greatest delight, leaves one-half of his curls to Miss Bryan, so that she need not waste any more time, energy and electricity.

Bun Webb leaves the first two fingers of his left hand so that anybody finding the need of these extra anatomical parts shall not perish for want.

Kenneth Ketcherside leaves a book on how to obtain a round trip ticket to West Point. It will not be found in the library, however. Margaret Putman has a number of vampish airs that she has gathered in her school years at Aggie and as she will have no need for them when leaving she wants them bequeathed to Marie Smallwood so that Marie shall be popular with the boys.

Thomas Todd wills his ability to cut monkey shines to Helen Paxon. Hays CcClanahan leaves his executive ability to Mr. Young to aid him as President of the school.

All the powder compacts are to be given to Miss Halbbrook so she may prepare herself when another expert typist visits the school.

Alexander Baker, Margaret Putman and Okla Dollar have the talent of jazzing. They each will leave a share so that there will be enough for anyone who plays nothing but classical stuff. They don't want her to miss the half of life.

And lastly, as to all the rest, residue and remainder of our personal estate, goods, and other undesirable belongings of whatsoever kind and nature, we give and bequeath to the janitors, so that they may not be contaminated by vile fingers.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and seal, this thirtieth day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

History of Sophomore College Class.

Space will not permit me to give a detailed account of the origin and action of our class because it is composed of the faithful few of several classes. The college course which was started last year is now complete and a B. S. degree is offered in Agriculture and Home Economics. This course is calling many of the old graduates back to school to finish their education.

We are the most advanced class in school but our march from the darkness of ignorance to the light of higher education has not been one of uninterrupted triumph. There have been the same problems and reverses confronting us that have baffled the intelligence of many a worthy class before our time. Still, we have "carried on" with such determination as to make stepping stones of the very obstacles that have beset the path of our progress toward the goal of our ambition—to so educate and discipline ourselves as to be of greater service to our school, our state, our country, and to our God.

Looking back over the long, hard struggle since we made our first appearance on the Aggie campus as freshmen with an over supply of chlorophyll in the high school department, we cannot but see the wonderful change that has been wrought and that is yet to be wrought in our lives. With grateful appreciation of the opportunities that could not otherwise have been ours, we wish to thank our good faculty for their tireless efforts in our behalf; our board of trustees and the state of Arkansas, for placing this higher education within the reach of the poor boys and girls. And, though, it may be impossible for us to ever completely pay our debt to our Alma Mater, we pledge ourselves through loyal, law-abiding citizenship, to live lives that will cost no reproach or disorder on her fair name.

Our ranks are growing thinner, we are only half our original strength and three of the remaining number have found it necessary to take unto themselves a life partner to help them in the struggle, but our hopes are growing brighter as we near the goal toward which we have struggled for so these many years. We have applied ourselves diligently when dark clouds of doubt and uncertainty hung along the horizon toward which the path of our efforts carried us. And now that the college is established and our efforts are not in vain, many of our class have met so many of the requirements that one more year will see them the proud possessors of a B. S. Degree representing a course in agriculture or home economics similar to that given in all the Universities and A. & M. Colleges of the South.

We are eagerly looking forward to our final year in college, then to the great conflict of life where we will continue in a larger measure, the battles that have started here.

Freshman College History

Our little ship is just starting out on its voyage o'er the stormy sea of college life. Its passengers have come from other states as well as our own. Even Oklahoma and Texas are represented among the number starting out on this great search for the precious treasure—knowledge.

Many times have we thought ourselves lost near the Isle of Trig, but there was one who always steered us safely out on the deep blue sea of understanding. And those awful storms on the English Sea! More than once have we almost given up in despair, but our faithful pilot, through some mysterious power, was able to quite those waters. Several times while in Examination Bay we thought we would have to leave the old ship.

Through these and many other violent storms we have passed, and though we as passengers have not always done our best we feel that we owe to the faithful crew of teachers more than we can ever pay. We are looking forward to the landing at Vacation City, but when the ship is ready to continue its voyage next August may we each and every one answer roll call.

AGRICOLA

Junior History.

This year we have thirty-five well-equipped young men and women on the Junior roll that are preparing to graduate next year. These students, of whom I shall undertake to give a slight historical sketch, have worked long and faithfully during their stay at Aggie.

From our ranks have come stars on the football, basketball, track and debating teams, and practically all other school organizations.

We shall first refer to our Class President, Mr. Charley B. Clement, an industrious young man who came to us from Rover, Arkansas. In his studies and all undertakings he has been successful. In fact, he has been a star player in football and had it not been for "Foots" our team might have been a losing one. C. B. was president of the Sophomore class and we hope he will be president of the class of '25.

Our Vice-President, C. B. Smith, who came to us from Judsonia, is also a star player in football, and for his class has set a high standard.

Our Secretary, Miss Ruth Spicer, a distinguished member of our class, came to us from Scranton. She has kept one of the best records the Junior Class has ever had. Ruth is full of pep and very loyal to the Aggies. We are hoping she will be with us next year.

I shall not undertake to give an individual record of each member but will take up in a general way the building of our class as it has occurred.

We entered Aggie for the first time in the fall of '21. For a long time it was hard for us to get used to bugle and beans but now they are one of the essentials of school life. The bugle was sounded and we assembled in the chapel hall, where our President, Mr. Critz, gave us a long list of "Do's" and instructions that we thought would last all of our lives.

We were classified and on the roll were found a number of peppy students, among which were: C. B. Clement, C. B. Smith, "Polly" Edwards, Ruel Strickland, Kenneth Nothwang, and others who later dropped out.

At the end of the first year some stayed for vacation, while others departed for home, all hoping to return in the fall.

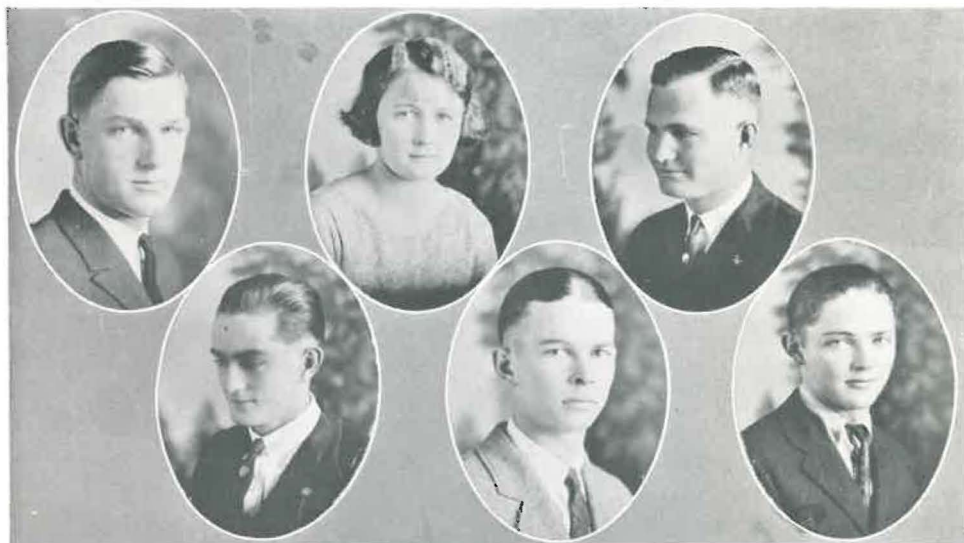

When we returned for Sophomore year, we, the "Wise Fools," were very much amused at the "Freshies." From the new students those added to our crowd of ambitious workers were: Vera Davis, Alcie Oldham, Lillie Wilkins, Johnnie Reed, Helen Paxon, Dorothy Freeman, Elmo Lacy, Harry Lisles, Clyde Magness, Ira McCollum, and Russell Clark.

In the fall of '23 we assembled at the "dear old school" and a Junior meeting was called. To the roll was added sixteen new members, namely: Joe Burton, Rupert Bonds, Troy Caviness, Clyde Jones, Levi Cummins, Rena Willis, Mamie Dawson, Ruth Spicer, Anna Parks, Fannie Russell, Raymond Smallwood, Clarence Birkhead, Fred Lynch, Virgie Highfill, Estelle Gill, and Faye McCullough. Most of us are just beginning to realize that at the close of this year's work our school days will soon be over.

Next year we come back as Seniors and hope to do better work than ever before.

AGRICOLA

Class History.

It was August, 1920, when the founders of our present Sophomore class first arrived on the campus of old Aggie, looking and feeling very much like a dog the first time he gets away from home and finds himself among strangers. However, it took but a few days for the novelty of the view, surroundings and the feeling of home-sickness to wear off. Then we got down to real work. From that day to this our class has been one of the foremost in all student activities.

It is a long road from Sub-Freshman to Senior year, but we are now on the "home stretch," and two more short years will see us stepping down from the old chapel stage with the long-coveted "sheep skin" in our hands.

During our Sub-Freshman and Freshman years we suffered untold misery from the faculty and the upper classmen because of our lack of experience; but now we are Sophomores and are able to tower high above the lower classes and make them feel our greater knowledge and experience just as Sophomores of old did unto us.

There is a just cause for our feeling proud of the class, for we have absorbed the great ideas and superior knowledge of the graduates that have gone before us. Further proof of our greatness lies in the fact that we have won prominent places in all literary and athletic contests, among which are reading, declamation, debate, and others too numerous to mention.

Our class has greatly diminished in size, but our loss has been compensated for by a greater determination to become graduates of which the school may be proud.

No one would recognize us now as the Sub-Freshies of years gone by, for we have emulated the dignified bearings of the Senior and the wise pose of the Junior. The foolish ways of the Freshmen have gone forever and ever—Amen!

AGRICOLA

Vocational.

The Vocational men are fighting with the same "pep" and enthusiasm to rehabilitate themselves, as they did in the World War. Probably no other group of students realize the aim of their studies as well as they do.

The veterans are applying themselves to their different courses so as to be enabled to take their rightful place in the community in which they shall reside, and to be equal in earning power to that of their neighbors.

By their aptitude and application to the studies which they are taking, the vocational men proved that the helping hand of the government has been fruitful.

Some of the school activities in which they have placed a contender are as follows: First in school standing, second term; one man on stock judging team; two men on the first team football squad; and winner in the second declamation contest.

Under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Johnson, they have one of the most efficient poultry departments in the South. The Vocational Poultry Club won more prizes in the State Poultry Show than any other entrant.

With the above records of achievement for proof of their efficiency in school work, they wish to stand before you to be judged as to whether or not they are worthy of government aid.

Dramatic Club.

The Dramatic Club during this second year of its existence, has proved one of the liveliest organization of the school. About fifty girls full of energy and enthusiasm comprise its membership, which is limited to the girls who have taken, or are taking, Expression or Physical Culture while in the Aggie School. Each girl in the Club is doing what the preamble of the Constitution says—making herself more physically and mentally fit to appear before the public, and encouraging the interest and enthusiasm in dramatics. "By their deeds ye shall know them."

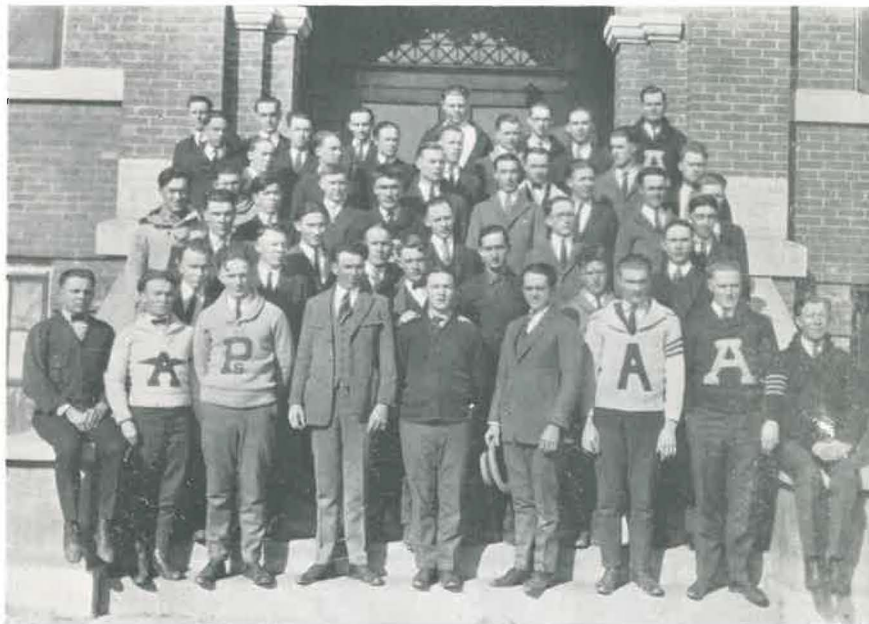

By the demonstration lesson of the Physical Culture class in chapel and in the theatre up-town, the dance of the Colonial ladies and "gentlemen," the reading contests, the programs at the weekly meetings on Tuesday, and the two big semi-annual social events—one in the early fall and the other to celebrate St. Valentine's Day, the girls have demonstrated their ability and progress. They have also materially helped as individual members in the other clubs and societies to which they belong, and are daily promulgating the aim and purpose of the Dramatic Club.

The Agricultural Club.

In the latter part of the year 1922 a group of boys who were interested in Agriculture met and organized a club for the purpose of discussing the agricultural problems which confront the Southern farmer of today.

It is a well known fact that the North is far ahead of the South in Agriculture. This is not caused by better lands or better workers, but by better organization. The farmers of the North co-operate with experimental stations which try to tell them of a more economical way of growing their products. We hope, by teaching the young men, to raise the standard of farming in the South.

This is the reason for organizing the "Agri" Club. We are beginning to realize great good from the programs, which are given every Wednesday evening, by the members. These interesting as well as instructive programs are subjects that are likely to confront one on the farm. The subjects are assigned to different parties, who go to the library and find all they can about the questions and then give a concentrated report.

In this way a great deal more agriculture is learned than could possibly be learned by the individual student.

Department of Animal Husbandry.

The Department of Animal Husbandry is doing everything possible to better the livestock industry in Arkansas. It gives instructions in all lines of practical and theoretical work which deals with judging, selecting, breeding, development, care and management of the various market and breed types of farm animals. It is well equipped with barns, feed and livestock to make the course very practical.

Prof. D. L. Weldon is the head of the department, but is very ably assisted in the practical side by Prof's. J. S. McBee and W. R. Stewart.

At the beginning of the present year the school owned 24 horses and mules, 50 head of Jerseys, 21 Holsteins, 21 Shorthorns, 36 Angus, 4 Herefords, and 82 Duroc Hogs. Enough meat is killed from the different classes to supply the dining hall with plenty of fresh, wholesome meat.

Each herd is headed by a registered sire. Special mention is due to two of the cows—Aggie Colantha De Kol, a registered Holstein, and Raleigh's Sultan's Princess, a registered Jersey. The former gave 12,000 pounds of milk from March 1, 1923, to March 1, 1924, and 500 pounds of 85 per cent butter, meantime giving birth to two heifer calves. The school has recently refused $300 for the older calf. The latter cow gave 12,000 pounds of milk and 600 pounds of butter fat from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1924.

The school is especially proud of its record made the past winter in fattening beef cattle. Last November the school had a bunch of Herefords, Angus and Shorthorns, for which they were offered from two to three cents per pound. These animals were placed in the feed lot and fed from 100 to 120 days. During the first part of the feeding period they were fed all the silage and prairie hay they would clean up, together with cotton seed meal, which was increased until the largest ones were consuming 7.5 pounds per day. During the last part of the feeding period the hay and silage was changed to cotton seed hulls, which were fed at the rate of three pounds of hulls to one of cotton seed meal.

Horticulture.

To most people the subject of Horticulture includes only the small home garden. In this garden, which is quite generally worked in spare hours, are grown a few of the most common garden plants.

But to the modern, well-trained Agriculturist, Horticulture has a much broader meaning. This term is used to include commercial fruit growing, home orchards, and vegetable and landscape gardening.

Hundreds of years ago the Japanese thought that this subject meant nothing but orcharding. They produced good fruit and even learned to improve it. However, the improvement which they made was in the size of the fruit, little attention being paid to the quality.

In the United States Horticulture has come to include all of the above named branches. The Horticulturist has a broad knowledge of all these branches and has as his object the increase and improvement of his products. To be successful requires much skill and training in the handling of the various plants with which he deals.

A familiar study of orcharding helps the Horticulturist to realize his aims in several different ways. His knowledge helps him to produce the particular kind of fruit most suitable for either domestic or commercial use. In addition, it helps him in his fight against the enemies of his products. Another important advantage of a thorough knowledge of orcharding is the production of better species.

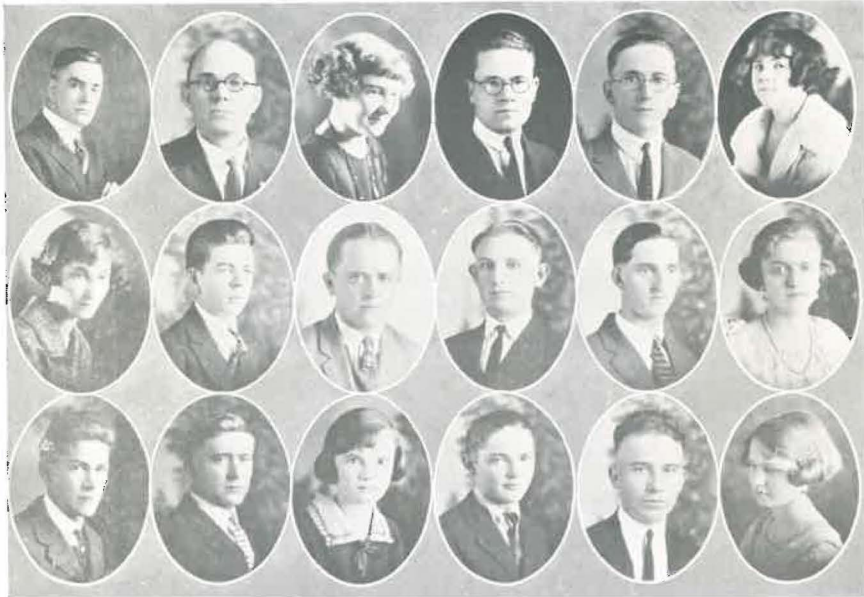

The same thing may be said about each of the other branches. But perhaps the most important advantage of a study of Horticulture is in the forcing of vegetables; that is, producing, out of season products for home use and the market. This is effected by the green house, which gives the young plants a start before they can be planted in open fields.

With Mr. H. B. White at the head of the Horticultural Department students of the Russellville Agricultural School receive much training and practical experience in Horticulture, especially the branches of Gardening and Orchardring. With a well equipped green house, the school offers to the students, besides the theory and class work, actual experience in handling vegetables of all kinds. Actual study and observation in the orchard brings the students face to face with every-day problems in orcharding and furnishes them with an experience which is an invaluable aid to their class study. In this way students who go out from the Russellville Agricultural School have had, not only the theory of the various branches of Horticulture, but have had a great deal of practical experience which will help them to meet with the problems of real life.

Science.

The Science Department of this school is one of the most important in the curriculum. The variety of work pursued and the large field over which this course extends, together with the applicability of the knowledge gained, make it fascinating.

The first year's course is not confined to any one field, but is the basis to the study of other branches of science, the facts upon which such subjects as Physiology, Biology, Physiography, and other subjects are based. It gives the student general knowledge of Chemical and Physical phenomena which surrounds us in every day life. Laboratory work with this course familiarizes the student with the most common laboratory equipment.

The second year is used in the study of chemistry. No efforts are made to give a detailed knowledge relating to the fascinating and profitable study of chemistry, but the object is to give only the fundamental facts relating to chemical phenomena and furnish the pupil with clear ideas of the more extensive study of the subject.

In addition to class room work, two hours per week are spent in the laboratory, where chemical changes actually take place and their facts are indelibly impressed on the mind.

The third year's work is confined to the qualitative separation of the most common metals. This course gives the best possible training in inductive reasoning and adds much to the general information of the student.

The Senior year includes the study of elementary Physics. Here we learn the facts relating to many of the phenomena taking place today. The aim is to stimulate some thinking as to the hows and whys of the physical world in which we live.

Advanced work is given in general inorganic chemistry with extensive laboratory work. The second year is confined to Quantitative analysis.

Arkco-Agrarian Literary Society

The Arkco-Agrarian Literary Society is an organization with the motto of "Service." The work of this Society is to bring the students closer together; to learn to "rub elbows" with our fellow men and to get the greatest good from all work undertaken, for the greatest number possible.

We have not met here to merely pass time away, but to teach and be taught. Have we met for pleasure? Yes, indeed we have, but is not work a pleasure when we know that we are receiving and giving something which will be an asset to us in the future?

Do we come here to waste our time the Great Creator has so willfully given us? No, we are here to do that which will aid us when we launch out upon life's boat of time and destiny. We are here to receive and pass on to our fellow-countryman something that will aid him in his work; to make life easier, pleasanter, and sweeter for him and to acquire that principle of morality which enables us to carry our part of the world's "load" more successfully and economically.

The best of life is here for us. Dreams! If it were not for the dreams men dream there would never be success, thought, or a career.

Dream and the world laughs at you; think and the world calls it idleness; laugh and the world laughs with you; serve and the world will serve you.

Periclean Literary Society

Early in the year of 1923, two Literary Societies were organized at the Aggie School, displacing the one of former years. The Periclean Society, though beginning with a comparative small membership, had a very definite purpose in mind. By competent leadership and loyal cooperation, splendid success has been achieved.

From the very beginning all were earnest and sincere about their work. They labored not for personal gain alone, but for that greater purpose—the upbuilding of their school and the promotion of its interests.

The Periclean Society was represented in the State High School Debating League by G. E. Tanner, Bunyan Webb and Joe Bishop, who acquitted themselves well.

For many years there has been a decided lack of social life in the institution. The Pericleans have been instrumental in fostering a better understanding and acquaintanceship among both faculty and students. They and other organizations have sponsored various social functions throughout the year, all of which has created a better or more “homey” atmosphere for the students. The results are obvious—better contentment and increased love and loyalty for dear old Aggie.

The Periclean Society will grow and prosper, because it is actuated by those ideals that mean so much to the life of a college student.

FEDERATED MUSIC CLUB

The Russellville Agricultural College Glee Club is a State and National Federated Club. In order to be a member one must be in active music work. There are forty-five young ladies and gentlemen in the Club. It meets the first Saturday afternoon of every month. After the program is given, light refreshments are served. Last year the Club studied Musical History, including all countries. This year they are studying: Elson's "History of American Music," Fletcher's "North American Indian Music," and Krehbiel's "Afro-American Folk Songs."

Music Department.

Music rightly has a place in the life of everyone. No education is complete until it contains some degree of appreciation for it. Life, in its broadest sense, is not experienced in the absence of music. It inspires the soul of man to remember the beauties which are about him and to see more in life than money.

The aim of the music department is to promote interest in good music. Talented musicians often invade our shores and here in our department of music they have an opportunity to develop their talents to the extent that the world recognizes their ability and thus their mission in the world is fulfilled, at least to the extent that they discover their ability.

The Music Department consists of two main divisions, viz: The Piano and Voice Division and the Band and Orchestra Division. Neither of these conflict with the other and any student may be connected with both. A curriculum is outlined in such a way that a student may receive state certificate at the completion of the course in music.

This department contributes greatly to the activities of the school in that banquets, and other social, as well as religious activities are made more pleasant and inspiring by the numbers furnished by the Department of Music.

“Happy Howlers.”

Out of the many student organizations none was received more enthusiastically than was the organization that styled themselves the “Happy Howlers.” This was a unique step in the advancement of student activities, especially as regards music. Never before has there been a purely student musical organization, sponsored and carried on without the help of any teacher.

It has continued to live despite the prophecy by some of a speedy “bankruptcy,” and has always lived up to its name as “happy howlers.” This was the express purpose of the organization—to sing something that had vim, vigor and vitality and still have that good old harmony that is always pleasing to the ear of any audience.

Long may they live and always howl, and howl, and howl; but always howl happily.

Band and Orchestra Division

The Band and Orchestra Division is composed of three distinct organizations, viz: The First Band, the Beginner's Band and the Orchestra.

The First Band lends amusement to the student body by furnishing interesting programs on different occasions and the members of the band deserve part of the honor for every victory won by Dear Old Aggie on the gridiron, diamond or track.

The Orchestra is an organization in which more students than are as yet, should be interested. It furnishes entertainment for literary programs and has invaded the field of professional organizations. The future of the Aggie Orchestra should not be prophesied for its progress has been rapid, and so long as obstacles are surmounted, growth may be expected to continue, until it is recognized as one of the strongest organizations of the school.

The Beginner's Band must also be given mention, for it is the chief feeder for the Band and Orchestra. Its members work as hard at the undertaking as a beginner in music can, and as individuals who now fill the places in the band and orchestra drop out, the vacancies will be filled from this organization.

*The Young Men's Christian Association and
The Young Women's Christian Association*

Heretofore our school has had no student Christian organization. Last fall some of our boys were invited to attend a Fall Retreat of the Y. M. C. A. on Petit Jean Mountain. They came home so enthused over their experience that they immediately organized a Y. M. C. A. and in due time were affiliated with the International Committee.

The interest and activity has continued until this has come to be one of the most influential organizations of the school. Five delegates were sent to the Student Volunteer Convention, at Indianapolis, and these delegates returned with so much enthusiasm and talked the work in such a way that the girls determined to organize an Association; so the Y. W. C. A. came into being.

These two organizations are doing a very effective work. They are the only societies that do or can do religious work in a student body from within. No amount of preaching and teaching from the outside can do the work that these Associations are doing.

There were twenty-nine delegates who represented these organizations at the State Convention of Student Volunteers which met in Conway.

Although a Freshman in the ranks of the College Associations of the state, yet on account of the splendid showing we have made, we were honored with the State Convention and we wish to extend it a cordial welcome to come again.

Poultry Department.

The aim of this department is to teach fundamental principles and essentials in a manner and within a compass that will make the study both adequate and practicable for student and poultry keeper alike.

The members of this department are vocational students, who are specializing in poultry raising. There are now forty-five of these men, who belong to the Vocational Poultry Club. More than one hundred have finished training and gone into business for themselves, but still continue their relations with the club.

The equipment consists of two Mammoth Incubators, one with a capacity of six thousand, and the other a capacity of two thousand, six hundred and forty eggs; ten colony houses, brooding capacity for three thousand chicks, surgical instruments, and one twelve-section laying house, which is supplied with city water and lights.

The flocks are varied, including Rhode Island Reds, White and Brown Leghorns, Wyandottes, Orpingtons, and Barred and Plymouth Rocks.

Training in this department consists of all branches of work connected with poultry production, namely: Breeding, natural and artificial incubation and brooding, care and feeding of chicks and growing stock, poultry houses and appliances, common diseases and treatment, caponizing, feeding for egg production, and culling the flock.

The members of the Club grade and ship to New York, sell baby chicks, hatching eggs and breeding stock. The Club has several prize winning birds. The members won fifteen silver cups at the Poultry Show, in which six states besides Arkansas were competing. They also had the champion pen. The champion Cockerel is owned by the instructor of this department, Mrs. Marie Johnson.

Domestic Science

Blest be the feast with simple plenty crowned.

Of the many things which contribute to the health and happiness of the home, food deserves the foremost consideration.

A study of food means a knowledge of many things, and the aim of our course is not only to teach what foods to select, how to prepare and how to serve them; by what means they are transported, and how they are taken care of in the market, but to give a working knowledge of the science of nutrition, so that our girls may be able to serve their families and their communities more efficiently.

Our ultimate aim is to teach a true appreciation of the home.

AGRICOLA

Domestic Art

Domestic Art is the phase of home economics which includes the scientific study of color, line and design as applied to the individual and the home.

A knowledge of clothing for the individual opens delightful possibilities to the student of Art. On this course materials are studied as to weave, width, price and appropriateness to occasion.

The following are all given due consideration: Care of machines, utilization of old materials, use of commercial patterns, pattern drafting, budget making and house furnishing.

The use of color harmonies as studied in interior decoration, the making of housekeeping a profession as in home management, and the proper development of social ideals are all phases of Domestic Art.

Debating

With the organization last year of the Arkco-Agrian and the Periclean Literary Societies, a genuine interest has rapidly developed in public speaking, debating, parliamentary practice and other activities incident thereto. Especially is this true in debating. In November application was made to the Extension Division of the University of Arkansas for membership in the High School Debating League. The teams chosen to represent the school were: Joe Bishop and Bunyan Webb, Affirmative; G. E. Tanner and Adolph McAnear, Negative. Miss Ruth Spicer and Mayo Reed were named Alternates. Webb, failing to qualify, Miss Spicer was made a "regular."

In the first series of debates both teams won over their opponents—Magazine Industrial Institute and Fort Smith High. Then in a dual debate with Dardanelle, we lost by a narrow margin, each school winning and losing one contest.

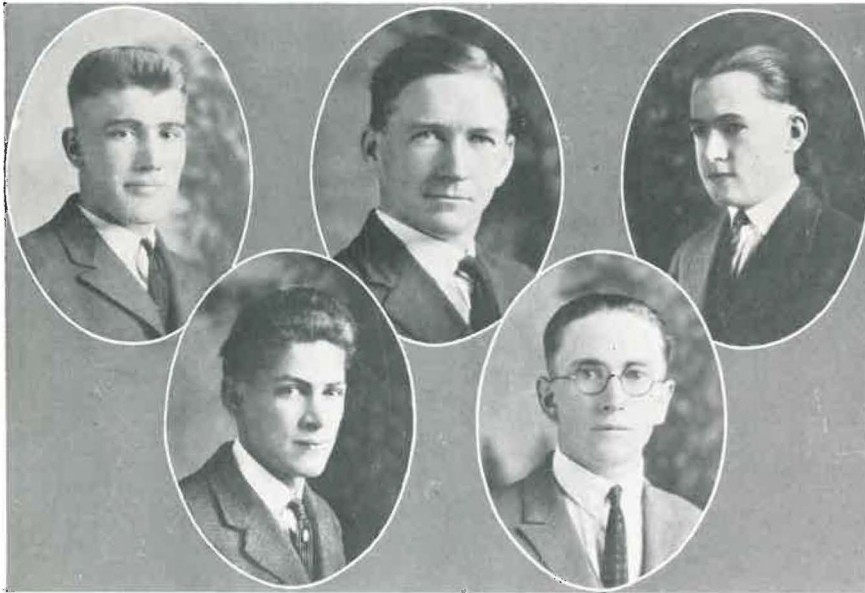

While we had hoped to "place" in the finals, we were not discouraged. On the other hand, we are the more determined to win next year. Both teams, though somewhat handicapped, acquitted themselves creditably. By their splendid efforts, an enthusiasm for literary achievement has been aroused that will, in future years, bring success, eclipsing even our athletic honors.

Indianapolis Delegates

The International Student Volunteer Movement met at Indianapolis, Indiana, December 29, 1923, to January 1, 1924. The Aggie Y. M. C. A. saw fit to select and send five representatives to the Convention. Those selected were Mr. Turrentine, Joe Bennett, Thomas Todd, Pat Hamm and Howard Burton.

The party met at Little Rock, where other groups from over the state had assembled. Arrangements had been made for a Pullman to carry the Arkansas delegation, and at a designed time a merry party left Little Rock for Indianapolis. A get-acquainted meeting was held as soon as everyone could get located. From that time until the return home, a wholesome, friendly, Christian relationship existed among all.

The Convention, which was held in Cadle Tabernacle, was attended by about ten thousand persons. The speakers were men and women of national and international reputation. The greatest of these were Doctors Eddy, Mott, Wilder, Spears, Studdert, Kennedy, Woods and Aggrey.

The programs were interesting and inspirational. Subjects relating to radical industrial, international and religious questions were thoroughly discussed. Especial attention was given to the study of Foreign Missions. Problems concerning our campuses and communities received due consideration.

Our delegates came home fully imbued with the spirit of the Convention, and to the best of their ability, have tried to impart to the entire student body the messages of the Convention.

1923 Stock Judging Team.

Top Row—Weldon, Russell, Myover.
Bottom Row—Jones, Pruett, Tanner.

The Aggie Stock Judging Team, under the training of D. L. Weldon, was winner of the Stock Judging Contest, held between the State Agricultural Schools, at Little Rock, October 9, 1923.

The team was composed of the following students:

BEN FRANK PRUETT—Pulaski County.
G. E. TANNER—Faulkner County.
GARLAND RUSSELL—Pope County.
JIM MYOVER—Van Buren County.
O. R. JONES—Conway County.

In this contest six classes of live stock were judged, namely: Two classes of Dairy cows, two classes of Beef cattle, two classes of Hogs. Ben Pruett won individual honors in both cattle and hogs; O. R. Jones second individual honors in hogs, and with the high averages of Tanner, Russell, and Myover, the team was able to win in the contest.

Military Organization

Battery "D" 206th Coast Artillery Corps of Arkansas National Guard; Anti-Aircraft Service.

JOHN G. BUERKLE, Captain

D. L. WELDON, First Lieutenant W. W. SMITH, Second Lieutenant

Battery "D" consists of 84 enlisted men and non-commissioned officers, and three commissioned officers.

The equipment in full is: O. D. and khaki uniforms, rifles, pistols, literature on gunnery, three motor cycles, two commodity trucks, one 75 m.m. gun, truck mounted, garage and armory.

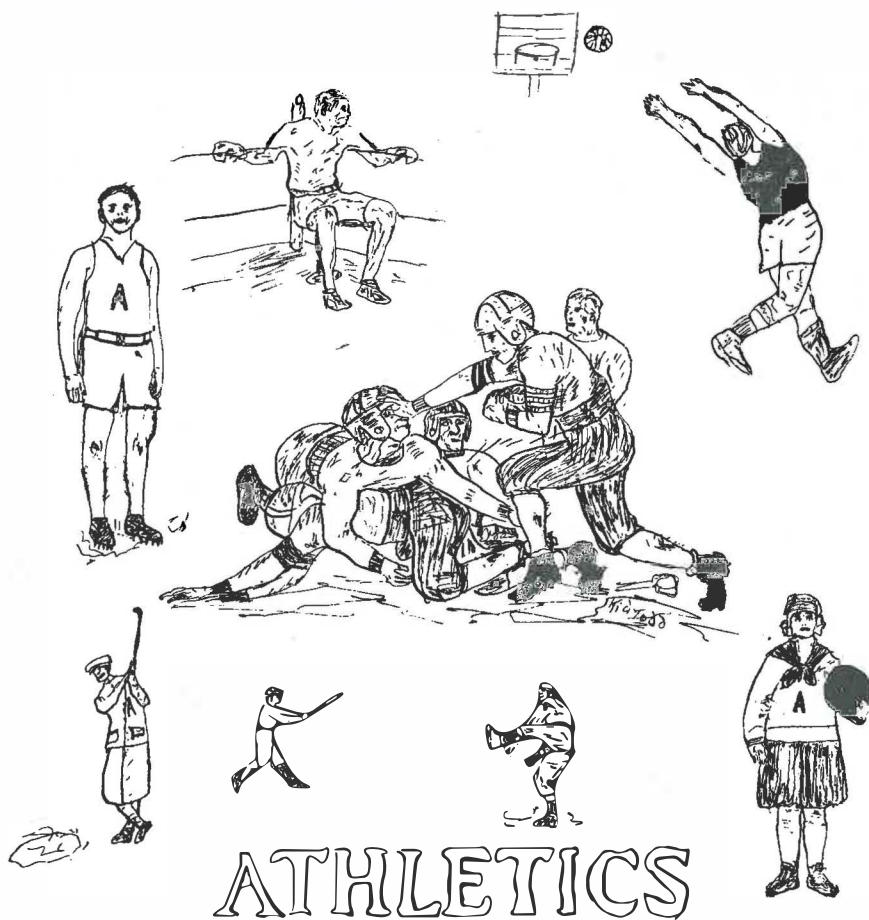

Military in name, appearance and equipment, yet Battery "D" does not devote all its time to things which are war-like. Courtesy, obedience and alertness are foremost in its purposes.

The Battery is an asset to the students, school and state in that many boys who belong, receive enough money from the government to make a high school education possible for them. In return, for the money paid to the students by the government, an educated citizen is added to the census honor roll.

Every member works for his fellow-members and the good of the battery. Where there is union in work there is harmony and good cheer.

"Beat the beater" is Aggie's motto and ours is none other.

Girls' Basketball

Basketball has been the sport among the Aggie girls, and every afternoon, when the weather permitted, found from fifteen to twenty-five girls on the court ready for practice. They practiced faithfully and enthusiastically and made a rather creditable showing considering the handicap of an outdoor court, which gets muddy on the slightest provocation of the weather man.

Veda Vaughan was Captain of the first team and was one of the best players. Cecile Stanford, as side center, won many compliments for her speed and general good playing. Miss Mitchell of the State Normal said that she considers Cecile the best basketball player in the state. Varnelle Overby, one of our best guards, twisted her knee at the first of the season and was out the remainder of the time. Ruby Lewis, Florence Graham and Prue Rogers played well as guards. Gertrude Boyer's equal as jumping center was hard to find, and Marie Smallwood and Johnnie Reed developed into good substitutes for Norine Justice's place as forward.

The games played and the showing made are as follows:

Won one and lost one to State Normal.

Lost to Hendrix.

Lost to Henderson-Brown.

Won from Paris High School.

Lost to Ozark High School.

Won from College of the Ozarks.

The second team played six games and won all but one.

If the girls had an indoor court we predict a championship team with the material that we have in our school and the faithfulness of the girls in practicing and training.

COACH EDGAR O. BROWN

During the four years that Coach Brown has guided the destiny of Aggie Athletics a record has been made that is the envy and despair of every other school in Arkansas.

Football history at Russellville Aggies dates from the time E. O. first carried the pig skin on the Buerkle Field.

Football at Aggie has always been clean, hard fighting and game, a credit to Arkansas athletics. This spirit was instilled into the men by "Silent E. O."

The record of only two games lost in the past four years is tribute enough to the greatest coach in the football history of Arkansas. If any has a better record let's have it.

AGRICOLA

G. R. TURRENTINE

Assistant Coach

Coach "Turp" is best known as a lover of fair play and hard work. His devotion to clean sports has endeared him to every man on the squad. He is a builder of men.

G. W. HAMM (Captain)

All-State Tackle, '21, '22, '23

Capt. "Hootch" is one of the best line men in the South. He was a star in every game. With G. W. as leader in 1923 only one game was lost; that was to the mighty Army eleven.

AGRICOLA

PAUL LEMING (Peter)—Sub-Captain-Elect

Right Half Back

You have heard of players who would tackle anything in a football suit. Well "Peter" is one of those kind.

BURL WEBB (Curly)

Right Half and Full Back—All-State, '23

Curly is a star at any position. His blonde head is to be seen in every play. Bucking the line for him is easy and touchdowns are his specialty. A star in the West Point game.

JOHN TUCKER (Tuck)

All-State Quarterback for four years.

At his clear, sharp call the reliable old team would bound goalward, and nothing could stop them.

"Tuck" played not for himself, but for the team and school. A better record could not have been made.

CHARLES B. SMITH

Left Guard

C. B. is a real guard and has been a great strength to the line. He played high class football for his first year. With one more year of experience he will probably be an All-State man.

AGRICOLA

CLARK REASONER (Fatty) Captain-Elect

All-State Guard, '23

Fatty is one of the South's best. He always met his opponent with a smile. After the game was over Fatty had a word of cheer for his team. Laughter and football are the rage with him.

CARROLL JONES (Cap)

Full Back

Carroll was Captain for 1923. "Cap" can batter his way through any line in the South. His clean playing and quick thinking has led Aggie to victory many times.

PAUL THOMPSON (Preacher)

Center

Transferred to all-state guard. Thompson proved himself a triple threat man this year. His playing was the best Aggie has ever seen.

GEORGE STOKES

Left End

Stokes has played end for three years. He carried the old Aggie fight through each and every game. He was on the job from whistle to whistle. We hope to have him on the team next year.

AGRICOLA

WILLIAM ROGERS (Oklahoma Charlie)

Left End

"Charlie" came to us from Oklahoma. This is his first year with the Wonder Boys. With his endurance, strength and ability he should be a star on any team.

HAYS GIBSON (Gippie)

Right End

"Gippie" has been with us for two years and has made one of the Wonder Boys' most dependable ends. His hobby is catching forward passes.

ORAL H. McILROY (Mc.)

Left Tackle

"Mc" has been with Aggie for three years. He was one of the sensational linesmen. He played hard throughout the game. O. H. was a vicious line breaker, often smearing his opponent's play before a gain could be made.

CHARLES B. CLEMENT (Foots)

Left Guard

"Foots," the two-hundred pound guard, came to us from the State of Yell. This being his first year on the team, he has made a wonderful record. Still greater work will be expected of him next year.

AGRICOLA

JIM HUGH ARRINGTON

Half Back

Jim Hugh was one of the number among the half backs. He was noted for his end runs and hard tackling. This is his second year at Aggie and we all hope to have him back next year.

JOE LYONS

Half Back

Joe came to us from Rolla, Mo. This is his first year with the Wonder Boys, but he has been one of the boys since the first week of practice.

JOE BENNETT (Sow)

Sub. Center

"Sow" is one of the hardest fighters. His faithful work and wonderful ability won him a place on the team. He has been with us for quite a while and a real Aggie he is.

HAROLD GANNER (Hap)

End

Ganner has been with the Aggies for three years and has made a good record on the football field. By his pep and fighting spirit he became one of the best players.

AGRICOLA

JIM WHITE (James Johnson)

Sub. Tackle

Jim came to us from Henderson-Brown. Jim was a fast, clever man, whose chief fault was a lack of experience. After one year on the second team this fault was overcome and Jimmie took his place alongside the big boys.

AUTREY NEWMAN (Sir)

Sub Tackle

Autrey has been with the Aggies for some time. He is a very consistent player. "Sir" is always willing to fight for Aggie.

HENRY HAMILTON (Peck)

Half Back

"Peck's" broken-field running was a terror to the opposing team. He starred against Tulsa.

DENTON POWERS (Spatch)

Half Back

Although small, he is one of Aggies' snappiest players. Denton was very fast and was a very dangerous man for his opponents. He has been with Aggie for several years. We hope to have him back next year.

AGRICOLA

GRADY OPITZ (Stud)

Sub

Although a new man at the game "Stud" has proved himself a willing fighter for Old Aggie at all times. A better sub could not be found.

HAROLD LEE OVERBY (Jack)

Sub.

Jack has played on the second team for two years. We are hoping that he will be back next year for his football future is bright.

COLLINS EDWARDS (Pug)

Sub. Quarterback

"Pug" came to us from Henderson-Brown. "Pug" was a very dependable player. He played quarterback against the Army and also some other hard games. He was noted for his line plunges.

ARCH BEWLEY

Sub Tackle

Arch has been with the Wonder Boys for two years. He has gained the admiration of the students by his pep and fighting spirit.

AGRICOLA

The "A" Association

The "A" Association is practically a new organization, and has not reached the accomplishments that it should. But with the wonderful leadership at the head, there is nothing but a successful future facing it. Of course this organization is composed of men who are able and willing to represent the school in many different ways. They feel that it is their duty to do everything possible to uplift and improve the school, and the place is just now being reached where they can be really serviceable. Their greatest ambition is to do service, not only for the fellow playmates, but for the school and state. By unity and cooperation they will make athletics in every branch more attractive, and this will bring better students to the school, which will necessarily enlarge the name and reputation. After all, that should be the attitude of every loyal student, but no one fellow can achieve very much. Then organizations and cooperation is the only solution for a progressive school.

Coach Brown is to be complimented for the wonderful showing our team made this year.

“Curley” Webb was the only letter man to report for practice. With this stalwart veteran as center and Captain, Coach developed a team that would look good anywhere.

G. W. Hamm, Hill and Overbey developed into three of the state's best Guards. Horn, Pat Hamm and Skinner could go around the best on any court.

Seven games were played. The Aggie combination won five of the seven, scoring 192 points to their opponents 162.

With the same squad next year the colleges of the state will have to step some to win from us.

Third Row: Gateley, Opitz, Horn, Resmont, McAnear, Smith.

Baseball

When late in February Coach Brown sent out a call for material, he found seven of his old letter men ready to go to work. Several of last year's ring leaders had failed to return; but, to compensate for this loss, which gave promise of being a serious one, Coach was swamped with an avalanche of new and party new material. Some of the best bets among these latter were: Horn, Nixon, Keathley, Lyons, Skinner, Lynch and Simons.

With Duvall, Opitz, McClanahan, Reasoner, Tucker, Leming, McAnear and Bewley from last year's squad, supported by the new material the team was rapidly developed into the strongest Aggie has ever known.

The following schedule has been arranged, part of which will be played after school closes:

March 20-21. College of the Ozarks, at Clarksville.

April 3-4. Normal, at Russellville.

April 15-16. College of the Ozarks, at Russellville.

May 2-3. Ouachita, at Russellville.

May 6-7. State Normal, at Conway.

May 9-10. L. P. I., at Ruston, La.

May 12-14. Ouachita, at Arkadelphia.

May 15-16. Henderson-Brown, at Arkadelphia.

May 17-18. Little Rock College, at Little Rock.

AGRICOLA

Track Team

The Track men reported for practice early in the year. Eight letter men showed up, together with an abundance of new material.

With our veteran Coach, Weldon, directing activities on the field, there is not a doubt on the mind of anyone but that the season will be a great success.

The 1924 schedule is an outgrowth of the splendid record of the past. But with the material at hand, and the spirit that never says quit, together with the untiring efforts of a faithful leader, victory should be ours.

Denton—"No, I'll get off myself."

Carmen Griffin—"Come, come! Don't be too hard on Ona. He has his faults, but there's one good thing about him."

Iva McEver—"Indeed! What is it?"

Carmen—"Why—er—I can't say; but there is about everybody, you know."

* * *

Ernest A. Collins—"Some of these girls around here are stingy."

Verner Hatchett—"How is that?"

Collins—"If you steal a kiss they want you to put it back."

* * *

"But?"

"No."

"Just?"

"No."

"One?"

"No."

"Please?" Okla.

"No."

"X X X"

"Oh, Joe, why didn't you shave?" (Joe Lyons.)

Edward Mathis—"I suppose youve been through Algebra?"

Merrell O'Neal—"I went through at night but could not see the place."

* * *

I told you to come after supper."

Autry Newman—"That's just exactly what I came after."

* * *

Mr. Stevenson—"Every day we breathe oxygen. What do we breathe at night?"

Nannie May Nicholson—"Nitrogen."

* * *

Miss Umbaugh—"People who drink too much coffee have a coffee heart. And men who smoke too much have a tobacco heart."

Elizabeth Newman asked—"If a girl eats lots of sweets will she get a sweetheart?"

* * *

Overheard on the Poultry Yard.

A rooster that was not very satisfied with his hens, one day found an ostrich egg. Gathering together his wives he showed it to them, saying, "I don't mean to belittle your attempts but just look what other folks are doing."

H. D. Cawhorn—"How does the water get in the watermelon?"

P. J. Haynes—"I don't know. Why?"

Cawhorn—"They plant the seeds in the spring."

* * *

E. C. Hodges—"How that razor does pull!"

T. L. Fitzgerald—"Oh, that's all right; it'll get the whiskers off if the handle don't break; keep trying."

* * *

Edgar Vaughan—"Just one kiss, please."

Estelle Gill—"If I let you kiss me once you'll want to kiss me again."

Edgar—"No I won't."

Estelle—"Then you don't deserve to kiss me at all."

* * *

Corporal Collins: While marching in front of his squad, he overheard a voice in the rear rank say: "This squad is just like a flivver—the crank is in front."

"Yes," snapped back the Corp, "but the nuts are all behind."

A Sure Refuge.

We studied Birke again this spring
A little book all bound in blue;
It proved, by far, the worst old thing
The lits, as yet had tried to chew.

A student pondered o'er the theme,
He saw it grow from bad to worse.
So on the fly-leaf of his book
He wrote this little verse:

"If there should ever be a flood,
To this in refuge fly;
For though the whole earth be submerged,
This book would still be dry."

* * *

Clyde Taylor—"Where's the funny paper?"

Chas. High—"Funny paper? Today ain't Sunday. I told you not to take that bath last night."

* * *

Kenneth Nothwang—"I have a chance for the track team."

Loyd Millard—"Why are they going to raffle it off?"

College Life.

I've led a fast life, boys,
Earned all I spent;
Paid what I borrowed,
Lost what I lent.

I once had a girl;
That came to an end.
Get a good dog, boys—
He'll be your friend.

* * *

We are willing to bet that the Philosopher who said, "It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all," was never in love in his life.

* * *

Otho Clark—"I have some fine smelling perfume as anybody's, I guess."

Clyde Magness—"I don't need any; I take my bath regularly."

* * *

William Chambers—"I guess you've been out with worse looking fellows than I, haven't you?"

Vera Gideon—"I heard you the first time. I was just trying to think."
